UNREST IN TWO NATIONS FELT IN SOUTH AMERICA

Revolution Rumors Stir Capitals of Brazil and Argentina.

ACTIVITY OF BANDITS IS BELIEVED CAUSE

Two High Army Officers Placed Under Arrest in Buenos Aires.

SOLDIERS CONFINED TO THEIR BARRACKS

President Irigoyen Guarded Closely by Police on Tour of Duty.

Rio de Janeiro, Aug. 29 (A.P.).—Foreign rumors of revolutionary unrest in the south Brazilian state of Rio Grande do Sul were under investigation tonight by the Brazilian government.

They were generally discredited in official circles, where it was pointed otu that acts of banditry in the big cattle-raising state might have given rise to them. Confirmation, even in the shape of local rumors, was lacking.

The rumors emanated from Montevideo, capital of Uruguay, whose northern frontier touches Rio Grande do Sul, and originated in the border town of Rivera.

Soldiers Held in Barracks.

Brazilian soldiers were said to have been confined to barracks throughout the state, and a political leader named Juan Francisco de Souza was reported to be leading a band of revolutionists.

Coming on top of revolutions, or rumors of revolutions, in Bolivia, Peru and Argentina, the rumors caused a flurry in journalistic circles, but this quickly subsided after the official statement.

Two Officers Arrested.

Buenos Aires, Aug. 29 (A.P.).—With three destroyers anchored in the harbor and troops confined to barracks, the Argentine government for the second successive time alertly waited tonight for a possible revolutionary outbreak or attack against President Hipolito Irigoyen.

Two high army officers of the capital troops were suddenly placed under arrest in the First infantry barracks. They are Lieut. Col. Pedro Rocco and Capt. Luis Jorghensen, attached to the military communications division. No reason for their arrest was announced.

Day Passes Quietly.

Beyond this and an impressive show of police strength, the day passed without any signs of danger to the state or its chief. The populace went tranquilly about its business, and there was a decrease in the number of alarming rumors that have spread through the capital recently.

President Irigoyen, still heavily guarded, went as usual to his office today from his home. He conferred with Gen. Marcilessi, commanding the First army division, and with provincial officials.

Demonstration of Loyalty.

A demonstration of loyalty to him was begun tonight by members of the "Klan Radical," who are his personal followers.

Troops in the federal capital were held in their barracks again by order of the minister of war, Maj. Gen. Luis Dellepiane. Police were concentrated in force about President Irigoyen's home and his office.

The reason for shch an imposing public display of armed force continued obscure. Some prominent public men deprecated it, believing it would create unrest in the interior of the republic and apprehension abroad.

Cuba Delegates Revolt.

Santa Clara, Cuba, Aug. 29 (A.P.).—Santa Clara Province today started probing an alleged seditious plot which last night resulted in the arrest of 20 Nationalists at Cruces.

Said to have worked independently of orders from the Nationalist Union, the men arrested are charged with organizing a movement to storm the army post at Cruces, seize the weapons of the soldiers quartered there and open an armed revolt.

Political circles throughout Cuba today were stirred by news of the alleged plot although the Nationalist Union publicly declared it had given no authorization for such a move.

Secret service men cooperating with the army intelligence department were credited with preventing an actual march upon the Cruces Cuartel. The men being held as ringleaders in the movement were seized in their homes.

The situation at Maximo Gomez, in Mantanzas Province, where martial law was contemplated after the Conservatives and Liberals had engaged in rioting, was reported peaceful this afternoon. Soldiers and rural guards policed the city ready for further disorders.

Calvin Coolidge

Says: There are people who complain that they do not have any luck. These are the opportunists who think that their destiny is all shaped outside themselves. They are always waiting for something to happen. Not only is nothing very good likely to happen to this class, but if some fortune seems to come it tends to turn out disastrously. They are usually ruined by success.

Our real luck lies within ourselves. It is a question of character. It depends on whether we follow the inward light of conscience. Such men rise above the realm of temporary circumstance. They are great even in defeat.

Napoleon following his star, seeking luck outside himself, was great only in victory. But in Egypt, at Moscow, at Waterloo, his glory departed. Gen. Lee, sacrificing himself for what he felt was his duty, was no less great after Appomattox. Poverty, obscurity, assassination, only revealed the greatness of Lincoln. The wrath of man praised him. If we can not entirely control our environment, we can control ourselves and our own destiny. The man who is right makes his own luck.

GIRL STRUCK DOWN AND KILLED BY CAR

WOMAN DRIVER QUIZZED

A few minutes after she was struck down by an automobile in front of her home about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Margaret Lloyd, 9 years old, of 940 K street northwest, died at George Washington Hospital. The driver of the car was Mrs. Rella M. Roakes, of Twentieth street near Rhode Island avenue northeast, according to First Precinct police who investigated the accident.

Coroner Ramsay J. Nevitt ordered an inquest for 11 o'clock this morning and held Mrs. Roakes' attorney, Charles C. Collins, responsible for her appearance. Mrs. Roakes was released in custody of her attorney after being questioned for more than an hour at the First Precinct Station. Mrs. Roakes was accompanied by her daughter, Helen, at the time of the accident. The daughter will appear as a witness at the inquest.

The accident occurred when the Lloyd child darted from between two parked automobiles in front of her home. The car driven by Mrs. Roakes had crossed the intersection of Ninth and K streets when she spied the child, police learned.

Mrs. Roakes applied the brakes, and the car skidded from the intersection for a distance of 60 feet, striking the child, witnesses told police. The little girl was a short distance from the side of the street when she was hit, measurements taken by police showed, indicating that Mrs. Roakes' machine had skidded diagonally across the street from the north to the south side.

With a fracture of the skull, a fracture of the left thigh and internal injuries, the child was taken to George Washington Hospital in Mrs. Roakes' automobile. She died a few minutes later.

The child is the daughter of Mrs. Margaret Bowman and Andy Bowman. She was the daughter of Mrs. Bowman's first husband.

Upon being told of her daughter's death, Mrs. Bowman became hysterical and fainted. She was given treatment by a physician from Emergency Hospital, who went to the scene in an ambulance. Mrs. Bowman later was taken to a private physician by her husband for further treatment. She was reported to be resting quietly late last night.

The Bowmans have one other child, a 5-year-old boy. The father has been unemployed for some time, it was learned.

GRAND JURY TO GET BOND GRAFT CHARGE

QUIZ COMES AS SURPRISE

An investigation of charges of reputed collusion between bondamen and policemen and bondsmen and lawyers was launched yesterday, when United States Attorney Leo A. Rover announced that beginning Tuesday the grand jury will take action on the matter.

Mr. Rover's announcement came in connection with the statement from his office that Dr. James R. Armstrong, of the Montgomery Apartments, North Capitol and M streets, had volunteered to be a witness, and had promised to give testimony on that subject.

The announcement came as a complete surprise, Mr. Rover earlier in the week having refused the plea of Milton S. Kronheim, president of the Professional Bondsmen's Association, for an investigation. At that time the United States attorney declared the grand jury would be asked to make the investigation if any formal charges were filed.

Mr. Rover yesterday, however, stated that Dr. Armstrong had volunteered to appear before the inquisitorial body, and announced that the doctor would appear before the grand jury on Tuesday.

The announcement of the United States attorney follows:

"I have just received a letter from Dr. James R. Armstrong, Apartment 43, the Montgomery, North Capitol and M streets, this city, in which he states that he would like to go before the grand jury to testify concerning conditions existing between lawyers and bondsmen and police and bondsmen. I have subpenaed Dr. Armstrong to appear before the grand jury on Tuesday, September 2."

Mr. Rover declined to make public Dr. Armstrong's letter, stating that it contained nothing other than what was quoted in the official announcement.

Agitation over the bond situation in Washington came to a climax last week when Assistant United States Attorney David A. Hart, in charge of

SECRETARY BLAMES RISE UPON DROUGHT

Large Guest Group to Pass Holiday Week-End at River Lodge.

Orange, Va., Aug. 29 (A.P.).—President Hoover this week-end will confer at his Rapidan River lodge near here with Government officials concerning expedition of the Federal ten-year public building construction program.

Like last week's discussions, which resulted in a decision to accelerate work on the lower Mississippi and other waterway projects to relieve unemployment, the object of this week will be to determine if similar relief measures can be taken in connection with the building program without disturbing a balanced budget.

Ferry K. Heath, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, in charge of public buildings, and John W. Phillip, Assistant Postmaster General, having supervision over postoffice sites, will participate in the discussions.

$550,000,000 Building Program.

Both had reports showing the status of the $550,000,000 building program launched three years ago and were prepared to outline to the President projects which they believe should be carried in next year's appropriations.

Of the total authorized for public buildings, Congress has appropriated more than $300,000,000, including $165,000,000 for the National Capital. The unemployment situation primarily is back of the conference.

Secretary Hyde, upon leaving the Cabinet meeting in Washington yesterday, estimated farm labor unemployment to have increased roughly about 11 per cent since the drought began.

Other Guests at Camp.

Besides Government officials, the President and Mrs. Hoover brought a large party of personal friends to the camp to remain until Labor Day. They were J. V. W. Reynders, New York engineer, and Mrs. Reynders; Henry M. Robinson, Los Angeles banker and member of the Hoover drought relief committee, and Mrs. Robinson; William Starr Myers, professor of politics at Princeton, and Mrs. Myers; George Baldwin, New York engineer, and Mrs. Baldwin; Mark Sullivan and Mrs. Sullivan; James Rippin, New York, and Mrs. Rippin; Miss Martha Van Rensselaer, professor of home economics at Cornell University; J. N. Darling, cartoonist; J. P. Goodrich, former Governor of Indiana; Dr. Joel T. Boone, the President's physician; Lawrence Richey, secretary to Mr. Hoover; Mrs. Dare Stark McMullin, Palo Alto; Herbert Hoover, jr., and Delano Large, nephew of Mrs. Hoover.

The party will return to Washington late on Labor Day.

Five-Alarm Fire Causes $25,000 Damage in Waste Paper Plant

Dense smoke cast a pall over the Northeast section yesterday from a five-alarm fire that destroyed thousands of bales of paper in the District Waste Paper Co. storehouse at 71 O street. Twenty-one engines and six trucks answered the alarm.

DRY SUPPORT LOST BY MRS. M'CORMICK

REFERENDUM HELD VAIN

Chicago, Aug. 29 (A.P.).—George E. Safford, superintendent of the Illinois Antisaloon League, today said that officers of the league will urge support of any worthy independent candidate for the United States Senate who will support the dry cause.

Although the Antisaloon League supported Ruth Hanna McCormick in her primary campaign against Senator Charles S. Deneen, Safford said that Mrs. McCormick's prohibition pronouncement at the recent Republican convention was unsatisfactory.

In a statement to the Associated Press, Stafford quoted Mrs. McCormick's declaration that she would be bound by the results of November's referendum on repeal of the eighteenth amendment, and commented:

"The drys consider that this announcement was made for the purpose of winning wet votes, and that Mrs. McCormick is ready to abandon her convictions under the pressure of political expediency. This is entirely unsatisfactory to us.

"The officers of the Antisaloon League feel that their only hope in securing adequate representation in support of the prohibition amendment will be by supporting an independent candidate for the United States Senate, and the entire influence of the Antisaloon League will be exerted in support of any worthy candidate who is brought out by united action of the dry leaders of the State."

Safford said the Antisaloon League had not reached a decision on participation in the referendum on prohibition which seeks an expression on repeal the eighteenth amendment, modification of the Volstead law and repeal of the State search and seizure act. He indicated his belief, however, that the poll would be ignored.

"Since the referendum can be nothing but an ostensible expression of opinion, without making any law or repealing any law, the drys feel that it is more important to concentrate their attention upon the election of dry candidates," Safford asserted.

"While the wets have been maneuvering 'wet' referenda, drys, in the same elections, have been electing

Northeast Section Under Pall of Smoke From Stubborn Blaze.

Throwing an almost impenetrable smoke blanket over a wide portion of the Northeast, a five-alarm fire, thought to have originated from a carelessly tossed cigarette, destroyed thousands of bales of paper in the District Waste Paper Co.'s storehouse at 71-77 O street late yesterday afternoon and caused damage estimated at $25,000.

In April, 1927, fire at the same location resulted in the death of Harvey O'Connor, then president of the company.

J. B. Stubbs, plant superintendent, had closed the building and was proceeding to his home on Quincy street when a colored resident of the community overtook him with the news that smoke was billowing from the rear windows. The blaze started on the rear of the second floor, and had gained considerable headway before the engines arrived in response to an alarm turned in about 5:15 o'clock.

Blaze Fought From Three Sides.

Alleys to the side and rear of the three-story brick structure enabled firemen to attack the flames from three sides, and about 45 minutes after the first apparatus had arrived the situation was well in hand, although firemen expected to remain at the scene all night in an effort to extinguish smoldering bales. Brick houses on each side of the warehouse were unoccupied.

The office records, which had been locked in the safe by Bookkeeper A. H. Connelly, were not damaged. Mr. Stubbs said that the fire could not have started from spontaneous combustion, as the stock was perfectly dry. He expressed the belief that some one had dropped a cigarette butt, in spite of the fact that no smoking was permitted in the building.

Mr. Stubbs estimated the value of

GOV. RITCHIE DENIES NATION IS LAWLESS

Foreign Lawyers Told Dry System, Unenforceable, Hurts Good Name.

JURISTS VISIT ANNAPOLIS

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Aug. 29.—The United States is not a lawless Nation, and the average American is law-abiding, Gov. Albert C. Ritchie declared in an address of welcome today to the group of international jurists, representing England, Ireland, Scotland and France, who visited Annapolis and the Naval Academy.

The foreign delegation, numbering about 200, many of them accompanied by their wives, came here from Washington after having attended the recent convention of the American Bar Association at Chicago. Here they were met by a committee of the Maryland bench and bar from Baltimore, headed by Chief Judge Carroll T. Bond, of the court of appeals, who made the trip to Annapolis by steamer.

Ridgely P. Melvin, of the Annapolis bar, assisted in the reception at this end of the line.

The governor delivered his address from the rostrum of the House of Delegates. The hall was well filled, and Gov. Ritchie received a big ovation as he arose to speak, after introduction by Judge Bond.

Responsive addresses in behalf of the visitors were made by Lord MacMilan, of the British delegation, and Henri Decugis, of the French group.

Following the reception at the statehouse, the visitors were conveyed to the Naval Academy in a caravan of automobiles and buses in which the trip from Washington was made. There they were welcomed in behalf of the Navy and the Radical Ship Crashes in Midst of Air Events at Chicago.

FAMOUS AVIATRIX HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Martie Bowman Close By as Hurtling Craft Hits Her Machine.

FATALITIES OF MEET BROUGHT TO THREE

Capital Girl Wins Second Place in Women's Dead-Stick Contest.

Curtiss-Reynolds Airport, Chicago, Aug. 29 (A.P.).—A crowd of 40,000 horror-stricken spectators saw the small "homemade" plane of George Fernic, St. George, Staten Island, N. Y., rise from the field, pause in mid-air, then plunge sickeningly downward into a parked plane at the national air races today.

Fernic, a Roumanian, was dead when pulled from the cockpit. His plane demolished a ship in which Miss Martie Bowman, of Hempstead, Long Island, N. Y., had just completed a closed course race. The famous aviatrix missed death by inches as the falling plane cleft through the fuselage of her ship. She and W. S. Allison, of Cleveland, had just stepped from her plane and were standing nearby with a group of mechanics. Members of the group scurried to one side in time to escape injury.

It was the second major crash witnessed by air race fans since the beginning of the meet, and brought the total fatalities to three. Fernic's craft, of radical design, had taken off successfully. As it soared to the north end of the field at a low altitude it nosed skyward, made one backward loop and fell.

Crowd Rushes Onto Field.

Screaming in horror, thousands of spectators made a concerted rush onto the field, adding to the confusion. Guards were powerless to avert the movement and it was some time before a semblance of order was restored.

Fernic had flown his plane to the air races, arriving Tuesday. He had designed and built the craft himself, placing on it a short, auxiliary wing which he believed gave it additional stability. In a larger plane of similar design, which he had intended to fly to Roumania, he crashed several months ago at Roosevelt Field, but was unhurt.

The ship derived its energy from a motor of only 70-horsepower. Fernic had told friends he was pleased with the plane's performance, but that it needed a more powerful engine. Witnesses blamed his fatal accident on insufficient power to pull the ship out of the loop.

Lindberghs Miss Tragedy.

The accident occurred about an hour after Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh left the races for Detroit. Lindbergh arrived yesterday afternoon, spent the night in Chicago, and returned to the races today shortly before noon, seeing more than four hours of the program. He and his wife were again perched in the chief judge's booth above the grandstand, a partial retreat from the public gaze.

Both expressed disappointment because they could not remain for the rest of the meet. Business, the colonel said, forced their return to the East.

The victims of the other major crash were J. P. DeShazo of Montevallo, Ala., pilot of a Navy plane, and Louise Weiner, a Chicago concessionaire, who were killed last Wednesday, when DeShazo's machine fell and burst into flames.

Two races considered among the most important of the meet were run

Tydings Purchases Island For Use as Senators' Club

$100,000 Fishing and Hunting Retreat in Chesapeake Bay for Colleagues and High Officials Planned by Marylander; Hoover's Lodge Started Movement.

President Hoover's idea of a vacation retreat within easy reach of the Capital has evidently set the precedent for similar action in official ranks.

The latest move is the purchase of an island in Chesapeake Bay by Senator Millard E. Tydings, of Maryland, who plans to organize a fish and gun club for his colleagues and others in official life. It is known as Poplar Island and consists of 229 acres, just south of Easton, Md.

Plans for the development call for the expenditure of around $100,000 for the erection of a clubhouse and other facilities. Senator Tydings could not be reached today for details of his new club.

Several days ago it was announced that F. Trubee Davison, Assistant Secretary of War, had purchased an island home near Annapolis with sufficient acreage to provide a landing field. He proposes to commute between the Maryland place and Bolling Field.

The increased interest in hunting and fishing indicates that officials in the Capital are going to follow a precedent set in bills recently introduced. Congress is asked to pass a measure to provide an investigation of all matters pertaining to conservation of wild animal life. It is proposed that private individuals be encouraged to aid the program, and hte acquiring of tracts to be reserved as private clubs is in line with the proposal.

Senator Hawes, of Missouri, and Senator Walcott, of Connecticut, introduced the resolution to provide funds for the inquiry. Both are ardent devotees of rod and gun and it is believed here that they have already been approached on the subject of Senator Tydings' island retreat.

Poplar Island is not too far away from Washington to allow members to spend a considerable portion of their time there and still be able to transact business here. The increasing necessity of having members of Congress stick closer to the Capital is also an idea considered.

Senator Tydings, who is a bachelor, and a World War veteran, is a conspicuous figure in the Senate. He enlisted as a private at the outset of the war and worked up to the rank of lieutenant colonel. He was cited by Gens. Pershing, Morton and Upton and was also awarded the Distinguished Service Medal.

Farmer Slays Brother For Protection to Wife

Rocky Mount, N. C., Aug. 29 (A.P.).—Will Long, 28, Nash County farmer, shot his brother, John Long, 31, to death last night to protect his wife, he said, from the man's drunken fury.

Sheriff J. H. Griffin said no inquest would be held.

Features in Tomorrow's Post

The new master strategist of the Republican party, Robert H. Lucas, is the subject of one of those inimitable stories by David Rankin Barbee. It is a story that digs deep into the character of this valiant son of old Kentucky and presents him to the public in a way in which few have had the pleasure of knowing him.

In the tabloid magazine under the title of "These Are Not the Missing Links" will be found an enjoyable article by John J. Daly and beneath a lot of humor, will be a basis of fact which may surprise. The story deals with the new miniature golf courses.

Everybody is interested in the race between the Shamrock and the Enterprise. But how many know where the gallant yacht America, which brought the cup to this country 70 years ago, is today? Emmett Dougherty will tell you in a tabloid magazine yarn called "America, the Gem of the Ocean."

Another story by David Rankin Barbee in the tabloid magazine will describe the events before, during and after the battle of King's Mountain, where President Hoover will speak at an anniversary celebration October 7.

Then, too, The Post will carry full accounts of the Washington-New York and Philadelphia-Boston games; the National League contests for the lead; all other sports and news events from every nook and cranny of the world.

Recluse, Dead Three Years, Shown as Slayer Fugitive

Nebraska Farmer Veiled Identity 35 Years After Two Death Sentences and Twice Escaping From Prison; Left Estate Valued at $20,000.

St. Joseph, Mo., Aug. 29 (A.P.).—A Nebraska recluse farmer of means who carried with him in death three years ago his reason for shunning society 35 years was identified today as Columbus Hayes, who escaped jail and hanging for the murder of his brother-in-law in a dispute over a woman here in 1892.

R. E. Culver, St. Joseph attorney, who was prosecuting attorney here in 1892, viewed photographs of Frank Johnson, aged farmer who died in 1927 near Superior, Nebr., leaving a $20,000 estate, and declared that Johnson and Hayes were identical.

The investigation developed after Mrs. Alice Parish, of Los Angeles, visited Superior recently, claiming that she was a niece of Johnson and that he was the long-sought murderer.

Mrs. Parish exhibited pictures of Hayes which were readily identified by old-timers about Superior as likenesses of the recluse they knew as Johnson. She said that relatives had decided to reveal his true identity in an effort to acquire the estate.

In and near Superior Hayes' desire to live apart from his neighbors was a mystery. Some hinted that he had been disappointed in love. The old man offered no denial or explanation. He was known as a good farmer, a shrewd business man who lived in comfort but not extravagance. He went to live near Superior in the middle 90s soon after Hayes' second escape from jail while awaiting execution of the second death sentence passed upon him.

P. H. Stubbs, of Superior, administrator of the Johnson estate, conferred with Culver today and the two went to Savannah to inspect court records in an unsuccessful attempt to compare signatures of Johnson and Hayes.

The former prosecutor described Hayes as a vicious defendant and prisoner. Hayes first escaped from jail in 1892, but was captured three years later while managing, incognito, a large ranch near Columbus, Kans. He was returned and sentenced to death again, the date set for the first execution having passed. Then he fled jail again.

After retiring as prosecutor, Culver once met Hayes near Paola, Kans., and the fugitive moved as though to draw a gun. Culver explained hastily that he had no power to arrest, whereupon Hayes mounted a horse, directing Culver to remain until he was out of sight. Culver subsequently notified officials, but Hayes never was captured.

Horse Runs Away; Scatters Autoists

Swaying Wagon Strikes and Damages Two Cars in Wild Career.

A runaway horse, strange as it seems, enacted an old-fashioned wild jaunt out G street northwest between Twentieth and Twenty-first streets yesterday morning, sending motorists veering sharply out of its path and scattering pedestrians to safety in all directions.

Perched on the driver's seat of the wagon, Shack Bell, colored, 70 years old, of 1124 Lingers court northwest, clung precariously as the rickety vehicle swept dangerously along the street, striking two parked and unoccupied automobiles before the tired horse came to a stop.

The machines, only slightly damaged, belonged to Earl B. Bassett, of Clinton, Md., and Edward Maxwell, of 1500 Minnesota avenue northeast.

Man Admits Auto Had Load of Rum

Roy Johnson, 21, Released on $502 Bond on Two Charges.

"What's all that stuff in the back of that machine?" Second Precinct Sergt. B. F. McAllister questioned yesterday afternoon when he observed a man beside a car parked in Pierce street northwest.

"Well, to tell you the truth, it's corn," the man was quoted as replying.

Sergt. McAllister seized the car, laden with 16 half-gallons of "corn likker," and took the man in custody on charges of possession of liquor and also for failure to exhibit an operator's permit.

The man gave his name as Roy Johnson, alias Ray Pierce, 21 years old, of a V street house near Fourteenth street northwest. He was released on $502 bond.

GERMAN SEA FLIERS GREETED IN BUFFALO

On Way to Air Races, They Are Entertained and See Niagara Falls.

WEAK STRUT REPAIRED

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 29 (A.P.).—After successfully negotiating the first leg of their inland flight en route to the National Air Races, at Chicago, Capt. Wolfgang von Gronau and the crew of his transatlantic flying boat spent a strenuous afternoon and evening being entertained in this city and Niagara Falls.

After dinner at Niagara Falls, Ont., the German fliers were escorted to the river bank, where they viewed the illumination of the great cataract. They expressed amazement at the scene. The six persons who made the flight from New York to Buffalo, landing in the harbor here at 1:40 (E. D. T.) this afternoon, retired early with the intention of getting started early tomorrow morning for Chicago.

A large crowd headed by Alphe Karl, German consul at Buffalo, Buffalo, greeted Capt. von Gronau as he piloted the ship to a safe landing in Lake Erie. He was guided by a smaller Dornier-Wal land plane. A rear strut was weakened on the trip here from New York, but it was repaired this evening.

After making sure the flying boat was in a safe anchorage, the pilot and members of the crew—Franz Hack, Edward Zimmer and Franz Albrecht—and two passengers—Hertha Seeleman-Mitow, acting secretary for Capt. von Gronau—and Dr. George Gyssling, of the German consulate in New York, went ashore, where they were greeted officially by members of the city government, prominent citizens and aviation enthusiasts. After a trip around Buffalo, they visited a broadcasting studio and spoke briefly. The party then proceeded to the falls.

New York Parley Next Theater Clash Step

With no developments in the musician's deadlock with local theater owners both factions were saving their strength last night for a conference to be held in New York on Wednesday.

At this time the row over the renewal of blanket contracts is expected to be definitely settled. Telegrams confirming the projectionists' decision to cancel the order for a sympathy strike with the musicians were received at the offices of the local union yesterday, and under a truce effected in New York recently the musicians will continue work until September 15, under extensions of contracts expiring tomorrow.

EMBASSY ATTACHE INJURED IN CRASH

Mexican Envoy Has Narrow Escape as Car Goes Over Dead Man's Curve.

IS TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

A narrow escape from death was experienced last night by Ingeniero Don Pasqual Gutierrez Roldan, 38 years old, an attache of the Mexican Embassy, when the automobile he was driving back to Washington slid off the Baltimore boulevard at Dead Man's Curve, near Elk Ridge, Md., plunged over a small embankment and overturned twice.

He was extricated from his wrecked machine by a passing motorist, James Benton, of Laurel, who rushed Mr. Roldan to St. Agnes' Hospital in Baltimore, where he was admitted and treated for a fracture of the left arm and lacerations about the head. Hospital attendants said he probably would be confined several days.

Don Manuel C. Tellez, Mexican Ambassador, immediately was notified and sent a member of the embassy to the injured man's bedside.

Capone Lawyer's Story Questioned

Attorney Tells of Giblin's Statement in Alleged Assassination Plot.

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 29 (A.P.).—Stafford Caldwell, Jacksonville attorney, testified at a preliminary hearing here today that Vincent C. Giblin, lawyer for Alphonse Capone, told him Frank Ralls had implicated himself, Fred O. Eberhardt and Henry Halsema in an alleged conspiracy to assassinate Gov. Doyle E. Carlton.

Giblin had testified that it was Clem Dowling, and not Ralls, his roommate, who named the men. Giblin's interest in the case, he claimed, was because of reports to him that the Capone gang would be credited with slaying the governor, if it was done.

Severe cross-examination of Caldwell failed to elicit from him any confirmation that agreement had been made to have an Italian detective pose as a Chicago gunman in an effort to frustrate assassination plans.

DOGS TRAIL SLAYER OF OREGON DEPUTIES

Posses, With Machine Guns, Hunt Man, 67 Years Old, Who Shot Pair.

YOUTHFUL SON SEIZED

Eugene, Oreg., Aug. 29 (A.P.).—Posses, armed with machine guns, followed bloodhounds through dense woods near Marcola, Oreg., today searching for Ray Sutherland, 67, alleged moonshiner, wanted for the killing of Joe Saunders, 37, deputy game warden, and Oscar Duley, 35, Eugene policeman and deputy sheriff, in a gun battle.

Lee Bown, son of Sheriff Harry L. Bown, and Rodney Roach, deputy, who hastened to aid Saunders and Dudley, were wounded as they followed the fugitive.

Duley and Saunders were shot fatally when they attempted to halt a motor car they believed to be delivering liquor to the Sutherland home.

John Carlyle, another deputy, who was near Duley and Saunders, took Duley to a hospital, where Duley died, and notified Sheriff Bown, his son, and Roach. A trail of blood led from the scene of the shooting to the Sutherland home and then into dense underbrush and timber.

First believing Sutherland had barricaded himself under the floor of his home, authorities equipped with machine guns, entered the dwelling. They found Baude Sutherland, 20, Sutherland's son, and arrested him. Authorities said Baude was in the automobile when Duley and Saunders were slain.

Henry W. Meyers and J. W. Lewis, superintendent and warden of the State prison, Salem, Oreg., offered guards to assist in the search for the fugitive.

Ship, Carrying Andree, Dead Explorer, Sought in North

World Awaits News of Norwegian Sealer Bringing Bodies of First Balloon Polar Expedition, Lost 33 Years, Back to Civilization.

Tromsoe, Norway, Aug. 29 (A.P.).—Great banks of white fog descended today on the polar regions, adding to the difficulties of searching for the motor-driven steamer Bratvaag which, despite its small size, is at the moment probably the world's most famous and most sought-after vessel.

Somewhere in the Arctic wastes the Bratvaag is nosing about in the icy waters—where, no one is certain. Locked away in her stout, oaken sides, meanwhile, is one of the greatest exploration epics of all times—the story of the mysterious end of Salomon August Andree and two colleagues 33 years ago in their daring effort to be the first to fly over the North Pole in a balloon.

Whether the Bratvaag is pursuing her dangerous but still somewhat prosaic business of catching seals in the region of Fridtjof Nansen Land, or whether she is racing back to Tromsoe with her wonder tale and the bodies of the explorers is not known.

While several sealers are searching for the Bratvaag, the Norwegian naval vessel Michael Sars has been broadcasting in an effort to cause the little boat to proceed to a given position in the Arctic. Then the navy ship intends to touch Tromsoe on the way from Iceland and pick up Norwegian and Swedish physicians who will try to preserve the bodies aboard the Bratvaag, since the sealer is not equipped to deal with them.

The difficulty is that no one knows if the Bratvaag will go to the designated position. She has a radio receiving apparatus, but no sending equipment and thus will not be able to reply. Hence the world must check its impatience till the little boat is rounded up or decides to come south.

GIRL SLAYER ELUDES WIDE POLICE SEARCH

Authorities Believe Attack That Preceded Murder Took Place in Barn.

FEW CLEWS ARE FOUND

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 29 (A.P.).—Police were able to today pick up only a few vague bits of information that would aid in apprehending the slayer of 8-year-old Marverine Appel. Authorities found a barn in which the child is believed to have been attacked and killed a short time before her body was found last night in an alley two blocks from her home. There were bloodstains and also the footprint of a child on the earthen floor.

Little was developed, however, as to the identity of the slayer, who is believed to have been some mentally deficient person. One suspect was arrested here, questioned and released. Another suspect was held at Elkhart, a nearby city, but there was only a flimsy chance, police said, that he was the slayer. He gave his name as Frank B. Shuey, 34, of Greensburg, Pa.

$2,600 Reward Offered.

In the hope that monetary rewards would develop some clew the city council offered $2,000 for the capture of the killer. The St. Joseph County commissioners offered $500, and the South Bend News-Times added $100.

Marverine disappeared Wednesday evening. Playmates said that earlier that day a man attempted to entice her into taking an automobile ride. Their descriptions of the man were vague, but they said his car was of the small type recently introduced into this country.

The word picture given by the children of this man was completed somewhat by H. J. Jones, a school janitor. Jones, who had called Wednesday at the home of the child's mother, Mrs. Eula Appel, in regard to some laundry work, said he saw a man in a small car parked opposite the Appel home. Jones pictured the man as being about 30 years old, of heavy stature, smooth of face and wearing a Panama hat.

Neighbors Aid Hunt.

The child's death inspired neighbors to participate in an organized hunt for her slayer. Some armed themselves and patroled the railroad yards near her home, searching through box cars and beating through the weeds of vacant lots. Police sought to dissuade these volunteer searchers, fearing that they might harm some innocent suspect.

Marverine's mother, who collapsed after the finding of the child's body, was under a physician's care today. She has been employed in an automobile factory here. The child's father and mother are divorced. The father has been living in Chattanooga, Tenn.

LABOR FEDERATION PLANS BUTLER QUIZ

SENATOR TO INVESTIGATE

Boston, Aug. 29 (A.P.).—Conrad W. Crooker, general counsel for the Liberal Civic League, announced today the American Federation of Labor had assured him it would investigate the league's charges that labor men who have indorsed William M. Butler for the Republican nomination for United States senator were on Butler's "pay roll."

Crooker's statement was in the form of a telegram sent to United States Senator Gerald P. Nye, urging the Senate campaign committee to take instant action in inquiring into Butler's campaign. He said the assurance had come from the office of President William Green of the federation.

The wire to Nye said: "We have uncovered flagrant attempts to debauch labor leadership in the interest of Butler."

Butler, a former United States senator and former chairman of the Republican national committee, running on a "dry" platform, is opposed by Col. Eben S. Draper, a "wet."

Crooker told Senator Nye that inquiry by the league had disclosed such "wholesale disregard for the corrupt practice acts and such barefaced attempts to buy the nomination" that it again appealed to him for a public inquiry by his committee. Senator Nye recently replied to a similar request, Crooker said, by saying the committee would continue to inquire into the situation.

Crocker charged that "Butler and certain capitalistic interests that are behind him have already spent $500,000 to steal this nomination from the people."

Comparing the Butler activities with the Newberry, Vare and Grundy campaign fund cases, Crooker said "they were pikers compared with Butler."

The Crooker telegram was sent to Senator Nye at Glacer Park, Mont. Another attack on Butler was made by Martin T. Joyce, secretary-treasurer of the Massachusetts State Federation of Labor, who urged organized wage-earners to oppose him.

Joyce issued a pamphlet over his own signature setting forth what he said was Butler's record in the United States Senate and the State Legislature on issues of interest to labor.

10 Cycle Police Relieved by Board

Dismounted as Step in Policy of Giving Motor Cars to Precincts.

As the first definite step in accordance with the new policy of the Police Department to replace motorcycles with small automobiles throughout the fourteen precincts, ten policemen yesterday were relieved from motorcycle duty by the Board of Commissioners.

More men will be removed from motorcycle duty as rapidly as the routine of obtaining additional automobile patrols for the various precincts can be completed, it was explained last night by Maj. Gen. Herbert N. Crosby, Commissioner in charge of the Police Department.

The idea of substituting small, fast automobiles for motorcycles was broached first by Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, several months ago.

Three Boys, Eldest 11, Held in Torch Murder

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 29 (A.P.).—Three boys, all under 12 years of age, were arrested today in connection with the fatal burning, August 13, of an elderly man in a junk yard. Police said the lads confessed piling brush over James Wright, 69, an itinerant laborer, as he slept and setting it on fire. Wright died later.

When the boys, whose names were withheld because of their ages, 8, 9 and 11, were asked why they started the blaze, their only answer was: "Just for fun." They are held on a charge of juvenile delinquency.

New Serum Saves 6,000 From Fever

Dr. Spencer, of Richmond, to Get Medal for His "Tick-Juice."

(Associated Press.)

By developing a vaccine which he terms "tick juice," Dr. R. R. Spencer, of the United States Public Health Service, this year saved 6,000 persons from the deadly Rocky Mountain spotted fever—and won the gold medal of the American Medical Association.

His medal thus signifies the saving, not of one life, but of scores so far, and hundreds in years to come. In one locality public health records show death in 85 per cent of the adults contracting the disease in the past twelve years.

But Dr. Spencer values that medal most, he admitted yesterday, because of the glory it reflects on his home town of Richmond, Va., and his alma mater, the University of Richmond. He is going down there soon to receive a Phi Beta Kappa key that he will cherish along with the medal.

SEX DISCRIMINATION IN JOBS CRITICIZED

Director of Women's Bureau in Labor Department Seeks Equality.

SHORTER HOURS URGED

(Associated Press.)

An appeal for a shorter working day and against sex discrimination in awarding jobs was made yesterday by Miss Mary Anderson, director of the Labor Department's women's bureau, in a Labor Day statement.

"Finding immediate remedies for our present slump," she said, "is the urgent business confronting us and calling for straight-forward thought and action. In planning a program of industrial betterment the most obvious feature to be discarded is not this or that class of workers, but the long work day."

She added that the shorter day was a simple expedient which did not require complicated machinery for its inauguration and said it offered the most powerful lever for relief at the present time.

Miss Anderson contended that "a period of unemployment should not be made more warped through introduction of a sex issue," adding that both sexes "must continue to earn in order to live."

Miss Anderson said that "during hard times employers have honestly and, perhaps often at a sacrifice, tried to give work to married and single men known to be mainstays in family budgets."

"We should like," she added, "to see this commendable policy more generally extended to women, both married and single, who have obligations to meet similar to the men's As there is today no sex line in the matter of economic responsibilities, there should be no sex discrimination in granting jobs."

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug 29. (A.P.)—A railway express agency truck driver and guard were kidnaped today by four robbers who escaped with a strong box containing several thousand dollars.

Harold F. Streelman, 22, the guard, and Harvey Sheldton, 56, the driver, were released unharmed many blocks from the scene of the hold-up. The robbery occurred in front of the express office as the two men placed the strong box in the truck and mounted to the seat. The robbers' automobile bore Iowa license plates.

RED ADVANCE SETS CHANGSHA IN TERROR

Thousands of Chinese Flee as 20,000 Communists Approach City.

GARRISON OUSTS LEADER

Shanghai, Aug. 29 (A.P.).—Thousands of terrified Chinese fled from Changsha and Wuchang today as Red armies approached.

Fearing vengeance for 1,500 Communists executed, the provincial garrison of 8,000 was reported planning to flee before the 20,000 Communists.

The advance body of 10,000 Reds, only 10 miles from the city walls, threatened to attack momentarily. Further wholesale looting and murder, completing the Communist sacking and burning of Changsha last month, was feared.

The few Americans who returned after the July holocaust were prepared to take refuge aboard the United States gunboat Palos. They had little confidence in ability of the provincial troops to repel an attack and scoffed at the stringing of wire about Changsha. The fence was to carry electric current, a modern device supplementing the ancient walls of the city.

The wavering garrison was without its leader. Accusing Gov. Ho-Chien of incompetence or worse when the Reds recently despoiled the city, troops expelled him a few days ago.

They demanded back pay. It was said that some had joined the Communist forces. Boats were seized by troops for flight down the Siang River if it became necessary.

Frightened by reports that Reds were about to attack Wuehang, thousands of Chinese fled across the Yangtse River to Hankow. In the latter city Nationalist government troops increased precautions.

Bank Robber Held As He Drops Money

Policeman Picks It Up, Runs After Him and Fells Man With Blow.

Montreal, Aug. 29 (A.P.).—A policeman who courteously tried to return a handful of bank notes to a man who had dropped them today captured George Baquiet, alleged hold-up man, 30 minutes after a branch of the Banque Provincial had been robbed of $3,500.

Waiting for a street car, Constable Archambault saw several bills drop from the pocket of a man who was hurriedly walking away. He picked up the money and started toward the stranger, who bolted. Constable Archambault gave chase and captured the man after knocking him unconscious.

Questioned at police headquarters, Baquiet refused to talk, but papers in his coat led police to believe he was a former resident of Detroit. In his haste to quit the scene of the robbery, detectives said he had left his coat and hat at the bank and hurled his revolver into a neighboring butcher shop.

Yesterday's judges included Maj. William O. Tufts, of the Chamber of Commerce; John S. Wynne, of Hoover Field; Godfrey L. Munter of the Aero Club, of Washington; and Lieut. Frank Daily, U. S. M. C. from Quantico.

The tournament records were checked by a committee headed by E. Clayton Fish, chief recorder, assisted by Miss Helen Collier, William F. Baker and Miss Sue Shorter, appointed by Maj. Luke Christopher of the National Aeronautic Association to represent officially that organization, which sanctioned the local tournament.

Business Executive Kills Self With Rope

Toledo, Ohio, Aug. 29 (A.P.).—Earl H. Farmer, 45 years old, assistant general sales manager of the Owens-Illinois Glass Co., was found hanging in the basement of his home here today. Dr. Paul Hohly, acting coroner, gave a verdict of suicide.

Friends of the dead man were unable to give a reason for his death. Mr. Farmer's wife is visiting her mother, Mrs. W. C. Elkins, in Doniphan, Mo.

Slaying in Chicago Laid to Gangsters

Man Answers Call to Door and Is Riddled by Five Bullets.

Chicago, Aug. 29 (A.P.).—Another murder, with gangland earmarks, was that today of John Kruspe, 38 years old. He fell with five bullets in his head after he had answered an early morning knock at the door of his home.

Mrs. Sue Gardner, his housekeeper, told police she heard the knock and heard Kruspe answer it.

"Is Jack in?" inquired a voice.

"I'm Jack," replied Kruspe.

"We've got you this time," the first voice said. The roar of pistols followed immediately. Mrs. Gardner ran to the hallway to find Kruspe's body huddled on the floor and to see the assassins flee.

Police were investigating a report that Kruspe was a beer runner for the Capone-Gusick outfit, supplying Loop speakeasies. Mrs. Gardner said that as far as she knew Kruspe was a salesman.

PROSPERITY FAILURE UNDER G.O.P. IS HIT

Hull Points Out Republican Statement Glosses Over Part of Platform.

TARIFF AGAIN ATTACKED

(Associated Press.)

Representative Hull (Democrat), Tennessee, replied yesterday to the Republican national committee's comparison of its party platform with administration actions by asserting the statement had erroneously magnified a mass of minor acts and routine matters into "so-called Hoover accomplishments."

"Prosperity alone has been until now the paramount political preachment of Republican administrations," Mr. Hull said in a statement issued through the Democratic national committee. He added, "It can not be a coincidence that in the parallel columns just issued there is no mention of that section which introduced the Kansas City platform."

The Tennessean then quoted the section of the platform as saying: "The record of the present (Coolidge) administration is a guaranty of what may be expected of the next. We offer not promises but accomplishments."

It was obvious, Mr. Hull said, the reason for the omission was that instead of the promised prosperity the country was going through one of the worst business depressions in its history. He said the Republican statement gave Mr. Hoover credit for the $160,000,000 reduction in income taxes in 1930 and commented that was a "measure of panic relief, and not tax relief."

As in Democratic statements in the past, Mr. Hull was severely critical of Republican claims for the tariff bill.

"The Grundy tariff is the most exorbitant in our history," he said. "It is a flat repudiation of the President's own promises and is so bad that even he, when he signed it, felt called upon to promise that with the flexible provision he would correct its manifest abuses."

Mr. Hull said it must be admitted that the Farm Board was purely a Hoover accomplishment.

"We are perfectly willing to leave the verdict on the Farm Board to the farmers," he said. "It would have been more honest had the Republicans stated that the Hoover farm relief was an experiment that possibly might work out in time."

Al Smith Omitted From Home Slate

May Renominate Roosevelt, but Is Not Delegate to Convention.

New York, Aug. 29 (A.P.).—Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, who has been unofficially listed to renominate Gov. Roosevelt at the Democratic State convention in Syracuse, has not been selected as a delegate.

The delegates from the Tenth Assembly District, in which Mr. Smith lives, have been certified by the Tammany organization, of which Charles L. Kohler is coleader. The name of Mr. Smith is not among them.

This does not mean the former governor will not be a delegate. Proxies undoubtedly will be proffered by scores of delegates, New York newspapers point out, but the fact that he was not picked to head the Tenth District delegation has occasioned some comment in Tammany circles.

W. J. Cundiff Dies; Nominated Bryan

Once Famous "Double" of Commoner Passed Late Years Obscurely.

William J. Cundiff, who nominated William Jennings Bryan to head the Democratic ticket in 1908, and whose likeness to the great political figure of a quarter of a century ago made it possible for him to "double" for Bryan, died on Monday in comparative obscurity.

The 62-year-old veteran of the Bryan campaigns passed away at Emergency Hospital, but his death became generally known only yesterday when the insurance division of the State Department, where he was at one time employed, was notified.

For several months Mr. Cundiff had lived on a boat anchored in the Potomac River, which he had largely fashioned himself from a lifeboat purchased from the Government two years ago. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Adelaide Cundiff, and a son, Wade Bryan Cundiff. Funeral services were held Wednesday, attended by a few former friends.

Baltimore Branch Burned.

The Baltimore branch of the company was burned twice within recent months. The extent of insurance on the local plant could not be learned, but it was reported that due to high premiums for protection on such stock only a small amount was carried.

Police reserves from three precincts, four ambulances, all available motorcycle men from the Traffic Bureau and the chief engineer of the Fire Department answered the alarm, with 21 engines and 6 trucks.

Police reserves were under Inspector T. R. Bean and Lieut. H. B. Smith, of the Traffic Bureau. Traffic for blocks around was jammed for more than an hour and fully 5,000 people were fighting for points of vantage. No firemen were injured.

U. S. IS NOT LAWLESS, GOV. RITCHIE HOLDS

Naval Academy by Rear Admiral Samuel S. Robison, superintendent. Then the party was escorted on a tour of inspection of buildings and grounds of the naval reservation. The whole party boarded the steamer City of Richmond at the Reina Mercedes dock for Baltimore, where a round of entertainments had been planned in their honor.

Strong Criticism Quoted.

The thread of Gov. Ritchie's address was taken from recent press dispatches touching upon alleged wholesale lawlessness in the United States and led the chief executive into a discussion of the chief problem now confronting the country, which, he said, is the national prohibition act, and the utter inability of its enforcement.

"It was not my privilege to attend with you the convention of the American Bar Association in Chicago, and so I know not with what apprehensions you received the information that you were in a lawless country.

"Certainly you had reason for concern, because I read in the press that high legal and judicial authority told you that 'we are a lawless people,' and that 'the average American is not law-abiding.'

"If this did not alarm you, at least it must have challenged your interest and attention, and I hope you will consider that sufficient justification for my advancing a conviction which I believe was shared by many but probably not expressed by any in the convention debates.

"I for one do not subscribe to the doctrine that we in the United States are a lawless people.

Blames Dry System.

"To the extent that lawlessness in this country exceeds appreciably the normal limit, I believe that the reason is to be found very largely in our present hard-and-fast Nation-wide system of prohibition, unyielding to popular sentiment in States and communities where it does not work, a national policy which, after ten years' trial, is not being enforced because it is not enforceable.

"If you could segregate offenses due directly or indirectly to the violation or the nonobservance of this vast and far-reaching experiment, then I doubt very much whether the residuum of crime would indict us as a lawless people.

"But because this system of prohibition is not enforceable, one would gather from current talk, even in high places, that our entire legal background is breaking down. Doubtless there is much room for improvement in our administration of criminal justice, but it is nonsense to say that our legal foundations are tottering because millions of people decline to respect a law that is alien to human nature and foreign to the American institution of local self-government, or because the criminal-minded take advantage of the opportunities it affords them.

"With great respect to the eminent authorities who express themselves differently, I venture to suggest that our difficulty is not disrespect for law in general, but for this law in particular.

Real American Problem.

"Our real problem is not law enforcement. When it comes to all those things which social consciousness has always regarded as crimes and misdemeanors, I believe that we are as law abiding a people as we ever were or as exists anywhere.

"Our problem is not enforcing obedience to the laws governing such offenses as those, but it is enforcing obedience to this particular law, when, for most people, obedience to it does no violence to their conscience and constitutes no moral offense, and in their eyes does not promote but in fact retards the cause of temperance.

"I know, gentlemen from abroad, that the conditions of law and order in this country necessarily command your interest and observation, because you devote your lives to that subject in your own countries, and so I have thought it appropriate to suggest this view of the question to you.

"Whether I am right about it or not, at least I am right in saying that we welcome you to a State today where the enforcement of law is in high repute. In Maryland major crimes have decreased, while arrests and convictions have both increased, and in Baltimore City criminal cases are tried within three weeks or less after the arrest."

GRANT'S BIRTHPLACE PAID VISIT BY G.A.R.

Union Veterans End Conclave After March Led by Capital Man.

GOV. COOPER IS SPEAKER

Cincinnati, Aug. 29 (A.P.).—Union veterans of the Civil War, still following U. S. Grant as they did 65 years ago, marched today to the little log cabin where their general was born, laid their homage at its doorstep, then broke ranks and dispersed to their homes.

The close of the sixty-fourth national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic came at Point Pleasant, Ohio, 27 miles up the Ohio River from Cincinnati, where meetings and reunions were held all week. Retracing their way here by steamer, the boys in blue were homeward bound tonight.

Tears welled into tired old eyes and rolled unheeded down wrinkled cheeks as the U. S. Marine Band played the melancholy music of "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground." All realized it might be their last bivouac just as did Commander in Chief James E. Jewel when he characterized this trip of Grant's Army "an affectionate visit of farewell."

Officer of the day and honor guest of the veterans was Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, grandson of the general, who rejoiced in the "unity of the Nation as shown by the absence of old grievances when the descendants of both Union and Confederate veterans fought side by side in the Spanish-American and World Wars."

Gov. Myers Y. Cooper of Ohio was another speaker, having made a special trip by automobile from Columbus to be there. The governor got a laugh when he "understood one Union soldier wrote to two girls at the same time while away at war," and asked which one it was. A dozen raised their hands.

Col. Grant also read a letter written by his grandfather in which he counseled "hard work as the best foundation for the energetic devotion to discipline which is the prerequisite of every general."

The veterans were shown through the Grant homestead, which now stands on ground purchased by the State as a memorial park. They examined relics of his family history. About 3,000 members of the G. A. R. and its allied organizations made the trip and were given an ovation by residents of Point Pleasant and Clermont County.

Hueston Renamed By Colored Elks

David Brunstin, of Capital, Accorded Ovation at Convention.

Special to The Washington Post.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 29.—William C. Hueston, assistant solicitor of the Postoffice Department, was unanimously reelected today Commissioner of Education of Colored Elks in annual session here. James R. Kelley, of Birmingham, likewise was reelected grand secretary.

The convention was addressed by Fred M. Breen, lieutenant governor of Michigan, who outlined a program of civil advancement for the Negro in Mchigan and throughout the Nation. An ovation was accorded David Brunstin, of Washington, who appeared before the convention in interest of support in development of department stores giving employment to colored salesmen.

The only fight in elections on the convention floor has developed around the office of grand treasurer, indications pointing to the reelection of Henry S. Warner, of New York, following the withdrawal of the name of John R. Hawkins, director of the colored division of the Republican national committee, in his favor.

prosecution of prohibition cases in Police Court, declared he had recommended a nominal bond for liquor-law violators when arrested, leaving the question of ultimate bonds up to the judges of Police Court, his office and the United States Commissioner.

Mr. Hart was joined in his crusade by judges of the Police Court, and as a result Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, issued orders Saturday night that persons arrested on liquor charges should be booked on only one charge.

The statement by Mr. Hart came after he had been questioned as to whether he believed there was any collusion between policemen and bondsmen.

DROUGHT POLITICS.

Democratic politicians and newspapers are now beginning a campaign to discredit President Hoover in connection with drought relief. Efforts are made to stir up resentment among the farmers, by making it appear that the drought relief program is not only ineffective, but insincere, and that there is no intention on the part of the Government to help the farmers. The plans for liberalizing credit to farmers are described by anti-Hoover critics as mere gestures affording no relief at all to any except well-to-do farmers who do not need special credit concessions. The penniless farmer, who actually needs immediate help, is pictured as a victim of governmental cruelty who is coldly turned over to the soulless Red Cross for such crumbs as will keep soul and body together.

This is a political attempt to deceive and discourage drought-stricken farmers by convincing them that the Government is not in earnest in seeking to help them. It is a base and mendacious misuse of publicity, of which no political party heretofore has been guilty. The course followed by the representatives of the Democratic national committee in misrepresenting economic conditions is an indication that the drought falsehoods are approved by that committee as part of the political conspiracy to discourage enterprise and prevent a return of good times, in the hope that the Democratic party will profit by public discontent.

All that the United States Government can do under the law is now being done in behalf of drought sufferers. What the law forbids will not be done. The Treasury can not be opened for the purpose of handing money gratuitously to any one who may be in need. The country has not yet reached the stage where its citizens are charity wards of the Government. Farmers who can furnish collateral security are to be granted loans promptly, and on liberal terms, through local organizations that will become responsible for the loans. This plan was successful in relieving distress among the Mississippi flood sufferers. It is the only practicable plan that can be devised for meeting the situation that has developed.

President Hoover announced at the beginning that the drought emergency doubtless would reveal many individual cases of distress which could not be met by any loan system. These cases are properly under the jurisdiction of the Red Cross, and no stricken family or community should hesitate to accept help from that great national organization, if help is necessary. On the other hand, farmers capable of extricating themselves by mobilizing their own resources will naturally prefer to do so, and this class will find assistance in the loan system that is now going into operation. In the matter of preventing loss of live stock, the shifting of herds to green pastures and the prompt delivery of feed at reduced railroad rates are proving effective.

Many farmers who prefer to work their own way out of their troubles will find an opportunity to obtain employment in highway and waterway construction under the Hoover plan of expediting public works of this nature. Many millions are available, and the States are expected to match Federal highway appropriations with equal sums. Some of the States under Democratic control are putting obstacles in the way of the Hoover relief plans, but the public can not long be deceived by political tricksters. The Hoover administration is doing everything possible to relieve drought distress, and it is going about the business in a practical and comprehensive way. Politicians who attempt to obstruct these plans are enemies of the farmers who need help.

FOREIGN GOSSIP VS. FACTS.

Dr. Edward Ewing Pratt, economist, and acting Secretary of Commerce in the Wilson administration, returns from Europe with a tale of woe for American commerce. He found "a tide of animosity risen to a degree impossible for untraveled Americans to imagine," and therefore concluded "that the very existence of our trade is endangered."

So many impressionable Americans go to Europe for their opinions of their own country that the public on this side of the Atlantic is quite accustomed to hearing the European version of America's fate. The surprising thing is that these "traveled Americans" are so completely taken in by the gossip they hear abroad.

Against the complaints of disgruntled foreign importers brought back by Dr. Pratt stands the report of the National Industrial Conference Board. A study of the trend of foreign trade of the United States convinced the board that "throughout the world countries are buying a larger share of their foreign purchases from the United States than before the war." These experts say that this country is in an excellent position to increase its foreign trade.

There is a world-wide tendency toward industrialization. Undeveloped countries are beginning to build up industries of their own. These industries will be fashioned to refine crude products of the country in which they are located and to manufacture articles most needed by local markets, such as clothing, footwear and household goods. The general effect of the growth of industries in backward countries, the board's report says, will be to discourage purchases of the goods bought most extensively from Europe and to encourage purchases of the goods bought most extensively from the United States. New industry abroad means a potential market for American machinery and productive equipment. The demand for American specialties is constantly expanding, and because the United States is supreme in this field it will continue strong.

The United States has nothing to fear from the adoption of protective tariffs by other countries. They will serve to stimulate domestic industry in these countries, raising the standard of living, and extending the demand for goods of all kinds. Some countries that now export manufactured necessities will suffer from this development, but the demand for American machinery, automobiles and other typically American products will be enlarged. At the same time there will be a continued demand from Europe for cotton, grain, copper, fruits and tobacco produced in this country.

At present American export sales are curtailed because of the low purchasing power of foreign markets. As soon as the depression has lifted international trade must be resumed on a larger scale than before. The United States will remain one of the world's greatest markets to foreign producers as well as the chief source of supply to many nations.

AIR RULES VIOLATED.

The Department of Commerce has certain regulations governing the stunting of airplanes in crowded areas. Had these regulations been enforced at the Chicago air meet Lieut. Jack P. Deshazo, of the Navy acrobatic team, would be alive today. Lieut. Deshazo crashed when he attempted to execute a dangerous maneuver close to the ground at the conclusion of a race. One spectator was killed and seven were injured in the crack-up.

The tragedy resulted in a new code of safety rules for the meet. Two large blocks of bleachers over which pilots had been stunting were ordered by county officials to be torn down or left vacant, and the stunt fliers were ordered to confine their maneuvers to the area over the open field. These precautions should prevent the sacrifice of life among spectators. But if the pilots persist in putting their ships through their paces at low altitudes as they have been doing throughout the meet further fatalities may be expected.

Why does the Department of Commerce permit the stunting regulations to be ignored in Chicago? Nothing is to be gained for aviation by foolhardy exhibitions of flying. The Chicago accident calls for a rigid investigation in order to fix the responsibility for locating seats in danger zones and permitting suicidal and homicidal flying.

WAR ON DRUG RINGS.

There is cause for public satisfaction in the progress made by the newly created Bureau of Narcotics in its fight on the entrenched drug rings in the United States. In the two months since the bureau began to function, under the broadened powers given by the Porter act, its accomplishments have been outstanding in importance. Five narcotic rings, operating upon a nation-wide scale, have been smashed. The ramifications of one of these rings extended into wide areas along the Atlantic Coast. Another ring had somewhat of a monopoly on the Pacific Coast.

Federal agents, under the direction of Harry J. Anslinger, acting commissioner of the bureau, have confiscated practically a one year supply of narcotics designed for illicit use. The Government is driving at the source of the drug evil. The seizure of illicit drugs worth $500,000 on an incoming ship at New York was characterized by United States District Attorney Tuttle as the most effective blow yet delivered by the Government.

The drug rings recently smashed had yearly sales amounting to several million dollars. In smashing these rings the Government seized evidence which will help to capture other illicit drug distributors.

The task of detecting gangsters engaged in large scale narcotic operations is a difficult undertaking. The traffic has an international phase. Success in combating narcotic gangsters requires a high degree of skill and ingenuity in the work of coordinating Federal detection forces, both at home and abroad.

FOOD PROFITEERS IN DANGER.

Public exposure is the remedy for food profiteering. Individuals and corporations engaged in boosting prices under the pretense that the drought has caused a scarcity of food and milk can not survive exposure of their methods. They can thrive only when the public is kept in ignorance of real conditions.

The milk "racket" in New York is now under official scrutiny. If the officials making the investigation are honest and courageous the milk thieves will be driven to cover. Organizations of trucking concerns have applied a squeeze to milk concerns, which in turn twist the screws against the public. Jobbers of canned goods in some communities have tried to boost prices, although there is no excuse whatever for such public robbery. The country has a full supply of vegetables for canning. Only a short time ago tomatoes were left rotting for lack of a market. The truckers and canners were well treated by Congress in enacting the tariff law, which increases the duties upon foreign truck.

Wherever food purveyors are engaged in interstate commerce they run a great risk in trying to take advantage of the drought for profiteering purposes. The Government is turning its attention to these concerns. In various ways interstate commerce profiteers can be brought to book, and in flagrant conspiracies the penitentiary is available. "Guilt is personal" in foot profiteering. Vigilance and courage on the part of public officials can put criminal profiteers behind the bars. The public expects public officials to do their duty.

HIPOLITO IRIGOYEN

From the New York Times.

When Hipolito Irigoyen was elected President of the Argentine Republic by a small margin of electoral votes in 1916 he conducted himself in such an arbitrary manner and showed such contempt for the constitution of his country and for public opinion that he arrayed against him in bitter opposition many of the most influential elements in the republic.

But when he presented himself again in 1928 as candidate for another six-year presidential term he was reelected, not by a small majority, but overwhelmingly.

The mystery surrounding his real personality and actions has long been a source of fascination to the lower classes, who know him as "El Hombre" (the man). El Hombre to them is a being invested with superhuman attributes, despising the rich and holding out in phantom invisibility the hand of friendship to the poor.

On the day of his first inauguration in 1916 he insisted on going to the ceremonies in a street car and his friends had the greatest difficulty in dissuading him from doing so. The law of the land provides that no president can serve two consecutive terms, but during President Irigoyen's first six years in office his acts were frequently so dictatorial that he was generally expected to disregard the constitution and retain the presidential office another six years.

His attitude toward the World War strengthened this belief. Despite the influential pressure that was brought to bear on him by allied supporters, he refused to let Argentina enter the conflict. He insisted that the best interests of the country demanded rigid neutrality and nothing could shake him from that decision.

When his first term ended in 1922 President Irigoyen relinquished the presidency with unexpected docility. His enemies were delighted. "Irigoyen," they declared, "is done for." At the time they seemed to be right. And when, in 1928, he appeared again as a candidate, they were openly derisive. But in the interim Senor Irigoyen had been building new political strength. The legend of El Hombre had been growing. His opponents found themselves fighting against mysterious undercurrents that they were unable to explain, and when the electoral ballots were counted Senor Irigoyen was leading his opponent, Dr. Leopoldo Melo, by 838,177 votes to 432,209.

But President Irigoyen had barely entered office when the storm of antagonism broke anew. As the months passed into years the charges against him grew. The principal charge was that he had a cabinet made up of men without voice or vote and that he himself had absorbed all the executive and some of the legislative functions of the government.

The president insisted on reading every authorization to pay out government funds, with the result that the banks of Argentina declined to discount government paper and thousands of contractors were embarrassed, many of them being forced into bankruptcy. An anti-Irigoyen majority in the Senate caused the president to refuse to fill offices for which appointees must be confirmed by that body. Twenty-five federal judgeships and numerous other important offices, including embassies abroad, are vacant as a result.

In December, 1929, President Irigoyen closed the gold conversion office to stop the export of that metal. The Argentine peso dropped in value because of a low wheat crop and the Argentine currency is still below par. In contrast to holding up government bills, it was charged that he had paid out $35,000,000 illegally for appropriations, including civil pensions to retired employes.

But the most serious political charge against him is that he has used the federal power for intervention in provincial affairs to overturn opposition governments in half a dozen states. In one of these provinces Senor Mendoza, a former governor, was assassinated and his "straw man," then in the gubernatorial chair, turned out of office.

President Irigoyen is nearly 80 years old. His enemies declare he is in his dotage. Once, during his present term, an attempt was made to assassinate him.

THOUGHT.

I often wonder what it is shapes thought
And prompts the quick decisions of the mind;
Why loss and profit ready speech can find
And friendly phrases are but slowly wrought.

Is not esteem as worthy to be sought
As is a gain of any other kind?
Why does our better nature lag behind
While selfishness will hesitate at naught?

In terms of money quick to think are we,
With little effort angrily we speak;
Our bitterest thoughts are fashioned easily,
For words ill-temper never has to seek.

But why should gentler thoughts so slowly come
Or even when we think them, find us dumb?

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Flapper Daughter.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MY DEAR LOUISE:

When I was your age, a woman's only career was marriage. She usually took the first man who asked her and thereafter served him as valet, cook and general handy man. She wasn't supposed to have any brains, and she wasn't regarded as a citizen. The law classed her with children and idiots.

You live in another world and in a few more years you will be a citizen—a citizen and therefore co-ruler of the greatest nation on earth.

That is a big job. The dumb and the thoughtless regard it as nothing more than a privilege—when they think of it at all—but it is something much more than that.

You pay for what you get in this world, and citizenship burdens you with obligations. Whether you like it or not, you will be responsible—just as responsible as anybody else—for every fault and injustice and stupidity in the management of your country's affairs.

And because you will share the obligations of citizenship, I want to get you started on the right foot in one matter that is of vital importance—so vital, in fact, that it almost makes the difference between a good citizen and a bad one.

Yesterday you saw a picture called "The Big House." It was a story of prison life and the chief characters were forgers, murderers and cut-throats. Yet when a prison break was attempted and bullets began to fly, boys in the audience cheered lustily for the criminals.

Do you know why? Because the prisoners had been given filthy food, locked in dungeons for trivial offenses, denied light and clean air, treated as though they were brutes.

Decent Americans hate tyranny and injustice and brutality.

And I want you to hate these things. I want you to realize that men in prison may be and frequently are no worse than other men—that some are weak-minded and some the victims of circumstance—and that all, despite their fault, deserve humane and decent treatment.

Our penal institutions are a national disgrace, and you, as a citizen, must share responsibility for them.

Learn now, and keep always in mind, that the business of prisons is to protect society and reclaim men—not to get revenge—and demand for prisoners the treatment you would ask if misfortune made you one of them.

Love,
DAD.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

WASHINGTON NEWS.

(As it may come through, now that President Hoover has had that Tom Thumb golf course made on his Rapidan retreat.)

President Hoover held a conference with Chairman Legge, of the Farm Board, regarding steps to relieve the farmer of his surplus wheat. The session lasted two hours, Chairman Legge beating the President by four putts.

• • • •

Federal expenses are rising at such an alarming rate against shrinking revenues that the Government faces a financial crisis, the President was told by Secretary Mellon in a spirited discussion. "Continuance of the income tax cut is threatened," said Mr. Mellon, who then startled the President by getting an ace on the difficult No. 3 hole, sending his ball up a wooden incline through a hole in a log and into the cup on a rolling green.

• • • •

President Hoover, when asked what steps the Government would take to increase revenues, said: "You should have seen me yesterday. I went around in even threes."

• • • •

Conferences of the Wickersham Anti-Crime Commission are continuing at President Hoover's woodland camp. It is understood the commission is greatly disturbed by the growing evidences of lawlessness and seeks presidential indorsement of radical proposals to curb crime. The sessions have been private and no details of what has taken place have leaked out, but it was reported through a source close to the White House today that Mr. Wickersham had told the President that his putting was lousy. Other members of the commission contended that Mr. Hoover would do better if he used a shorter grip and stood over the ball more.

• • • •

President Hoover today met with Secretary of Agriculture Hyde and six governors on the drought crisis, which all declared had now been averted. "The main thing now is rehabilitation," said Secretary Hyde, missing a 1-foot putt for an easy 4 on the third green.

"The farmer has been hard hit," declared President Hoover, "and, although heavy rains have saved his crops, we must now unite to . . ."

Here he tapped his ball ever so carefully and elatedly watched it roll through a pipe and into the cup for a hole in 1.

"I took my time that time," continued the President. "I think most trouble in putting comes as a result of hurrying the stroke."

The conference broke up later in the day due to a fight between the Governor of North Carolina and the Governor of South Carolina over the action of the Governor of Kansas in moving his ball from under an inverted water bucket on the ground it was out of bounds.

• • • •

There will be no meeting of the President's Cabinet this week due to hard feelings caused by an accusation by the Secretary of the Interior that the Secretary of Commerce took a 7 on the fifth and gave himself a par 4.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Dr. Wiley's Autobiography Tells What He Was Up Against in Waging Pure Food War.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: On the list of those who have greatly benefited humanity few names stand higher than that of Dr. Harvey W. Wiley. Always bitterly opposed by interests controlling millions of money, and sometimes by those high in authority in Government circles, he, nevertheless, succeeded in having the pure food law enacted, thereby benefiting millions of his fellow citizens. The story of his efforts to accomplish this purpose is told in his autobiography recently published, and is of thrilling interest. The book should be widely read.

A great majority of the people who were conberned are prone to take for granted things as they are. Few realized that there was necessity for changes, and now, after having reaped the benefit of Dr. Wiley's work for many years, they do not realize what a monumental service he rendered.

A review of the whole book would tax the limits of this letter, but a few quotations from it will serve to bring to mind at least part of what he did:

"The canners of food and the manufacturers of foodstuffs comprised one of the biggest groups who thought they would be ruined if they were compelled to eliminate chemical preservatives from their products. Benzoate of soda was the common preservative in canned goods. Alum, sulphurous acid, salicylic acid and similar adulterants all came in for a generous use. Vegetables were canned with sulphate of copper to give them a vivid green color. Sulphur dioxide was used in the bleaching of sugar. The sugar and molasses manufacturers formed a powerful combat division against us. The producers of saccharin were the most violent among the drug manufacturers in opposing pure food legislation.

"The whisky 'rectifiers' were solidly, powerfully and unrelentingly opposed to the passing of a pure food law. The term 'rectify,' etymologically, means to 'straighten;' but the whisky rectifier was doing nothing more or less than making crooked whisky of the crookedest kind that enlivened the throats and gullets of the thirsty men in that pre-Volstead era. The rectifier took pure alcohol, artificial color and flavor and, by skillful mixing, imitated genuine whisky, brandy and rum. The rectifiers had plenty of money to carry on their fights and represented men and business firms of formidable power and strength. They controlled from 85 to 90 per cent of all the distilled spirits used as beverages in the United States."

It is hard to believe that the consuming public would condone conditions described in these two paragraphs, but Dr. Wiley's voice was the first one that was raised in effective protest.

No honor the country can render is too great for such a man.

Builders of Tom Thumb Golf Courses Likely to Overdo the Business—Beware of Cold Weather.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: There has been a great increase in the number of Tom Thumb Golf courses in the District. Every one seems to be going crazy over this new fad. The courses add attractiveness to many corners that were previously eyesores, but there should be a limit to the number of the courses erected. Some of them are placed on sites that cause much annoyance to people who seek rest in the early hours of the evening. The lights which enable the players to enjoy their fun at night shine in windows and keep fretful babies awake for hours, and the chatter of players is often a neighborhood nuisance.

There is an ample number of these courses throughout the city to satisfy the demands of all enthusiasts. Speculators should beware of overdoing this fad. They may lose a lot of money when cold weather comes.

LYNN PRESTON.

United States Will Need Nicaragua Canal by the Time It Can Be Completed.

To to Editor of The Post—Sir: The fact that traffic through the Panama Canal has decreased since January should not be allowed to interfere with the plans for enlarging the canal and for the construction of the canal through Nicaragua. This slump in the number of ships passing through the canal is merely a temporary condition brought on by the world depression. There are many signs which indicate increasing activity in trade. As the volume of international trade grows, the volume of shipping will grom proportionately.

When trade reaches normal proportions there will be increased tonnage through the canal. Prudence requires timely enlargement of the Panama Canal and preliminary work on the Nicaraguan Canal. The United States will need the Nicaraguan Canal by the time it can be completed.

Mr. Coolidge's Remarks Filed Away for Attention of Congress.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In your Thursday issue the most highly paid dispenser of advice new and old, says: "Our ideal is not cheapness in either goods or men. • • • We want our people so well paid that they can afford to meet the price of prosperity."

I am collecting valuable suggestions like these for the benefit of the next Congress. During quite a few years in command of the Army and Navy, the author (or writer) of the quaint sentences quoted was unable to apply this principle to the personnel of our defense establishments.

Long words out of big dictionaries by investigating committees continue. Cheapness in men has not yet resulted, but some are hard pressed to "meet the price" of our so-called prosperity.

Seville Makes T. R. Campbell Adopted Son

U. S. Commissioner to Exposition Honored With "Home."

By JEAN ELIOT.

MR. THOMAS R. CAMPBELL, Civil Service Commissioner and quondam Governor of Arizona, may now claim Seville as "home" as well as Arizona and Washington. The ancient Spanish city has recently officially claimed him as an adopted son, the honor having been bestowed upon him in recognition of his work as Commissioner General of the United States for the Ibero-American Exposition held there last summer.

When Gov. Campbell was appointed Civil Service Commissioner, he was urged to reach Washington by a certain date. This necessitated his leaving Seville five days before the final flourish with which the exposition closed. The Spanish authorities, with "manana"—tomorrow—a familiar word in their own tongue, could see no reason in his sudden departure. He had been in Spain for the greater part of two years, preparing for the participation of the United States in the exposition and seeing it through. So what matter a few days more? They were greatly disappointed and perhaps a little outraged at his sudden departure. But evidently they do not hold it against him, for he has been given a signal honor rarely bestowed upon a foreigner.

While all the Latin-American nations had exhibits at Seville, showing the development of a culture inherited from Spain, the United States was the only "outsider" invited to participate. This was because part of the country had been colonized by Spain. So the choice of a son of Arizona, where many traces of Spanish culture remain, for the post of commissioner general was most happy. Moreover, Gov. Campbell carried out a not too easy task with great tact and ability and he and Mrs. Campbell proved so "sympatico" to the Spanish in Seville that they formed lasting friendships among people with whom most of the exposition officials had little contact.

Gov. and Mrs. Campbell are now house—or apartment—hunting in Washington and expect to be permanently settled by early autumn.

Various medals, diplomas and other awards, bestowed upon American organizations, which sent exhibits to Seville or took part otherwise in the exposition, are shortly to be sent from Spain and distributed through the State Department. The Army Band, which made a great hit with its series of concerts, is to have one, and a special diploma is to go to Mr. Franklin Adams, counselor of the Pan-American Union, for his assistance in arranging the programs of Latin-American music presented by the band. Moreover, the Children's Bureau took a gold medal for its child welfare exhibit.

This exhibit, by the way, has just reached Washington from Seville—to be started immediately on a journey to South Dakota. Any State willing to pay transportation expenses may now borrow the exhibit and the first call chanced to come from the Far West. So the collection, in which the King and Queen of Spain showed great personal interest will soon be on display at the State Fair at Huron, S. Dak.

NEW PLAN ADOPTED IN SUNDAY SCHOOLS

Old-Fashioned Auditorium Is Rapidly Giving Way to Modern System.

IDEA TERMED BENEFICIAL

One of the most hopeful and helpful innovations in the modern church is seen in development of the Sunday school and in the planning of new buildings in which it can do its work.

Every modern church, almost without exception, in its new construction, has abandoned the old-time Sunday school, where all the classes met in one large assembly room, except the tiny tots and the adult Bible class. The change has been so complete that even the name is being discarded, and the institution is being denominated the school of religious instruction.

Church architects, adopting ideas evolved in development of the Sunday school, are designing buildings that are more like modern secular school buildings than they are like old one-room basement auditoriums.

The new buildings separate children according to ages and into groups that correspond in a way to grades in secular schools. This necessitates dividing the building into large rooms, each with an auditorium and small classrooms opening on it—classrooms that will hold no more than ten or a dozen children.

Change Held Beneficial.

It has been found that this change promotes good work. Each class or group has its own superintendent, its own program of music and worship, its own social activities and its own ideals. The environment in which they meet and do their work stimulates a lively interest in the real purpose of the Sunday school, and where properly manned these modern schools give the teacher just the right contact with the child to lead it into a religious life.

These new buildings are not for children or for work of the Sunday school alone. In them are special apartments for women's work, mid-week prayer service, board meetings and for other activities of the church. They usually have one large auditorium where secular affairs, not appropriate to be given in the church edifice, can be held, and attached to these are kitchens and every up-to-date convenience.

When properly and fully organized these new religious houses are without equal for efficient handling of numerous problems of a city church, and in some States they are actually being grafted on to new country churches.

For instance good roads and the automobile have about made the old rural church extinct, and in its place is being built, either in towns or villages or in some convenient central part of the county, one large church and house of religious education, to take the place of half a dozen old-time country churches. This is notably true in North Carolina, where the Duke Foundation has built and is building a number of such institutions.

In Washington there are several of these institutional buildings. The Church of the Pilgrims is a notable example, because it is one of the latest and most beautiful cathedrals erected in the Capital. Now comes Woodrow Wilson's Church, known as Central Presbyterian Church, which has broken ground for just such a building.

Three Stories in Height.

This new structure will be three stories in height, and will follow the colonial design of the church at the corner of Fifteenth and Irving streets northwest. In the basement, which really gives a fourth floor to the building, will be housed the kitchen and dining room, the heating plant and storage rooms, and later it will provide space for overflow from the floors above.

On the first floor the adult Bible classes will be quartered, along with the primary department and the nursery, and an assembly hall for small children.

On the second floor the junior department will be housed, having nine classrooms and an auditorium. And on the third floor will be found the intermediate department, with nine classrooms and an assembly hall. It will share space with executive offices of the church and the Sunday school, where administrative work will be carried on.

Dr. James H. Taylor, who was President Wilson's pastor, is head of this church, and it is through his energetic efforts that the School of Religious Education Building is being erected.

Lutherans' Merger Termed Heartening

Movement to Be Ratified at Conference in Chicago Will Make American Group Largest With Membership of 1,250,000 Communicants.

By DAVID RANKIN BARBEE.

One of the most significant and heartening movements among American churches is the recent merger of a number of Lutheran Synods into what is known as the American Lutheran Conference. This merger will be officially ratified at a meeting to be held in Chicago on October 31. When completed, it will make the American Lutheran Conference the largest body of Lutherans in this country, having a membership of 1,250,000 communicants.

It is the ultimate aim of those who have inspired and energized this merger to see, at no distant day, a merger of all the Lutheran bodies in America into one nation-wide church. As the matter now stands there are three great, distinctive bodies of these wonderful people: the American Lutheran Conference, the United Lutheran Church and the Missouri Synod.

Of these three groups it might be said, without being too accurate or too meticulous as to facts, that the Missouri Synod is the most conservative of the Lutherans, the American Lutheran Conference the middle grounders, and the United Lutheran Church the most liberal. Of course, I know that no definition will fit the case as to any one of these churches, for there are liberals and conservatives in all three, and the foremost conservative in American Lutheranism, and one of the most versatile and learned scholars in America, Dr. Leander S. Keyser, of Wittenberg College, Columbus, Ohio, is a member of the United Lutheran Church.

Formed on Racial Lines.

The World War had a good deal to do with inspiring the Lutheran bodies to come together. Before that they were formed on geographical and racial lines. In the Mississippi Valley there is a very large German population and they are ruggedly conservative. They constitute the Missouri Synod. They gave their churches names that kept alive memories of the mother country. Their services were held in German and also in English, but many of their congregations, even in the deep South, in Mobile and New Orleans, as an example, have conducted services for more than a century in German alone.

When we got into the World War, along with other hysterics and fanaticisms, these congregations were forced, by public opinion, if not by law, to forego the service in German, and in many places, in New Orleans, I know, they actually had to change the names of their churches and remove from them every single trace of the noble ancestry of those who communicated in them.

After the war a movement started quietly, within the church itself, to do away, as far as possible, with all racial distinctions among the Lutherans. Immigration was suspended and the various groups of Lutherans were receiving no recruits from Europe, and the generations of those in the country had been educated in our common schools, in our colleges and universities and were out in our world competing with Americans who spoke the American language.

Sentimental Reasons Only.

There was no reason, other than a sentimental one, why there should be a Norwegian or a Swedish or a Danish Lutheran Church in America. There was every reason why there should be one great American Lutheran Church, identified by name with this country, identified also by name with the great reformer who made all the other Protestant churches possible, and appealing not alone to foreign racial groups but to Americans, just the same as the Episcopalians, the Methodists, the Baptists, the Presbyterians and all the other Protestant denominations do.

Two years ago I visited in the very old town of Salem, Va., and worshiped with some friends at the Lutheran Church, one of the oldest, largest and most beautiful there. The minister had a German name, but every member of the congregation I met came either from Ireland, Scotland, Virginia, North Carolina or Tennessee.

I mean by that that they were all of old American racial stocks. It was a revelation to me, the congregation and the service, for I had always associated Lutherans with the German language. And here I heard the old-time Wesleyan hymns and one by the great Scotch minister, Dr. Horatio Bonar, sung with swelling voice, and the dominie romped on the devil in most approved camp-meeting style, and the people responded just as I have heard them a thousand times in the Methodist Church.

Felt Perfectly at Home.

I tell you I felt perfectly at home, and I could see no difference in getting to heaven through old Martin's gate and entering through that opened by one of the three great Johns—Calvin, Knox and Wesley. I name them for fear that some of the readers of the church page have never heard of them.

It is the ultimate aim, aspiration and ambition of the Lutherans to merge all of their different churches, now three great groups, into one church, which will put on the Lord's armor and go forth to conquer America—at least that part of it not yet saved. This will make a church of some three million or more communicants, and probably the third largest in numbers in the country. That will be some competition for the other evangelicals when this happens.

About five years ago the leaders of three separate synods—the Joint Synod of Ohio, the Synod of Iowa and the Buffalo Synod—began to push the matter of a corporate merger of their respective bodies. They saw the waste of duplicated efforts in the same mission fields, at home and abroad, in the schools, colleges and seminaries, in the charity work, old folks' homes and orphanages in setting church against church, and it was decided to make an effort to end all this by merging the three bodies. This was finally consummated, and a church, known as the American Lutheran Church, was the outcome.

One Deplorable Thing.

One of the deplorable things about this union was that the faculty of synodical college of the Missouri Synod helped formulate the plan for the merger and the articles of agreement, and then the Missouri Synod refused to go into the merger. The door was left open, however, for the Missouri Synod to come in later.

After this merger was consummated, then the plan was enlarged for an organic merger with six other smaller synodical bodies, the largest of which were the Norwegian Synod, the Augustana Synod (Swedish) and the Danish Synod, with the American Lutheran Church. These synods, by their very names, indicated that they are racial, old world in their identity, and having ties that should be broken if their churches would step out and march along with Americans. They vote the Republican and Democratic, the Progressive and the Farmer-Labor tickets, along with all sorts of other Americans, so why not open their doors to those same Americans and let them get a baptism of Lutheran doctrine?

Idea of Americanism.

It was this idea of Americanism that sprang the merger of these six bodies with the American Lutheran Church, into a corporate body known as the American Lutheran Conference. Among the leaders in that movement were Dr. J. O. Stub, of Minneapolis, representing the Norwegian Synod; Dr. J. Brandelle, of Rock Island, Ill., representing the Swedish Synod, and Dr. Fandrey, representing the Iowa Synod. The headquarters of the new church will be in Chicago or Minneapolis. They will consolidate the several publishing houses, the missionary work, the educational program and all other activities, and will put a stop to all waste.

A movement of such Nation-wide importance could not arise and go forward to fruitage without affecting Washington in some way. The joint synod of Ohio is represented by three important churches—Grace, on Sixteenth and Varnum streets northwest, of which the Rev. Gerhard E. Lenski is pastor; St. Matthews, Tennessee avenue northeast, of which the Rev. E. H. Meuser is pastor, and Tacoma Park, of which the Rev. R. G. Steinmeyer is pastor. These churches now automatically go into the American Lutheran Church and also into the American Lutheran Conference.

There is in this city six or seven branches of the Lutheran Church, of which the United Lutheran is the most numerous, and all of them have what is known as the Washington City Lutheran Pastors Association, which meets on terms of amity and brotherliness. It is, in brief, what the Lutherans hope to see in the Nation.

Open-Air Services To Be Held Today

Open-air religious services will be held at Temple Heights at 4 o'clock this afternoon, directed by Dr. John C. Palmer, chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Masons. Dr. William L. Darby, secretary, Federation of Churches, will deliver the address, and J. Walter Humphrey will direct the music.

As special guests, the officers and members of the following named blue lodges, and of the chapters of the Order of the Eastern Star, with their families, will attend this service:

Naval Lodge No. 4, Raymond E. Otterback, master; Joseph H. Milans Lodge No. 38, Randall M. Oller, master; Temple-Noyes Lodge No. 32, Algernon P. Reeves, master; Pentalpha Lodge No. 23, Ara M. Daniels, master; Acacia Chapter No. 28, Mrs. Bertha Wealthall, matron, Arville L. Ebersole, patron; Lafayette Chapter No. 37, Miss Blanche H. Enterline, matron, Howard E. Griffith, patron; Joseph H. Milans Chapter No. 41, Mrs. Jennie W. Beane, matron, Huston Bressler, patron.

All members of the Masonic fraternity and of its allied bodies, with their families, as well as the public are welcome at these services, ample accommodation being provided.

Northeast Union Rites Will End Tomorrow

Union services in the Northeast section will end tomorrow evening when the five participating congregations will assemble in the North Carolina Avenue Methodist Protestant Church to hear Dr. F. F. Holsopple, pastor of the Church of the Brethren.

This service, which began in June, has been one of the most profitable ever held in that section of the city. It not only permitted the five congregations to hear different ministers, but it had decided social advantages. More than that, it allowed the pastors to take a vacation. The participating churches were: Metropolitan Presbyterian, Trinity Methodist Episcopal, First Methodist Protestant, Church of the Brethren and North Carolina Avenue Methodist Protestant. The ministers of these churches did the preaching.

Sentence Sermons

By the REV. DR. F. F. HALSOPPLE.

(Minister of the Washington City Church of the Brethren).

"The church of the living God, the pillar and ground of the truth." I Tim. iii:15.

Much has been written and published recently telling the world "what is wrong with the church." We are quite thoroughly saturated with the idea that much is wrong with the church and but little is right. Her failures have been published abroad and her futilities have been widely advertised. Indeed the early disappearance of the church as an influence among men has been quite freely prophesied.

A casual glance at the other side of the shield shows that notwithstanding the failures of her personnel there is much that has always been and still is right with the church.

All through the centuries the church has been the pillar and ground of the truth. With a voice that has never been stilled she has reminded the human race of God. All peoples who remember God are blessed. All history bears witness to the fact that where God is not known or His claims ignored degradation, poverty and hopelessness reign. To remove or degrade our conception of God would be an irretrievable loss. To the perpetuation of this conception the church has always addressed herself. To the church alone it is due.

Moreover the church has kept alive not only the thought of God but the fact that He is a God of love. Through nature we might get the conception of God as a being of unlimited power, but nature's voices are equivocal. Earthquake, storm, pestilence, drought and famine transcend all human power, hence might suggest a superior power whose acts are prompted by anger or malevolence, and not by love. To the church has been revealed and by the church proclaimed the fact that God is love. By the proclamation of this truth the church has comforted multiplied millions through the centuries. This service continues undiminished.

The church has always taught a superior ethic. Whatever may have been the conduct of individuals in the church, the church herself has presented the highest and finest ethic the world has ever known. "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind * * * and thy neighbor as thyself." "Whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you, do ye even so to them." Universal conformity to these precepts would usher in an era of peace and good will that would suggest the millennium. The noblest virtues of the greatest teachers that ever taught are upheld and promoted by the church.

Every great uplift movement has been originated in and fostered by the church. This is true of education, philanthropy and moral reforms of every kind. The great educational institutions had their origin in the church almost without exception. Hospitals and institutions whose purpose is to minister to the needy and the unfit have been sponsored by the church, or by those whose ideals have been influenced by it. Hospitals everywhere bear the name of denominations that have founded them. Beneath all of these and woven into the very warp and woof of them is the influence of Him who went about "doing good." In addition to furnishing trained workers of these institutions, the church has furnished most of the funds for their maintenance.

The Young Men's Christian Association, the Red Cross and the Salvation Army, that rendered such a marvelous service around the world during the tragedy of the World War, were merely the strong right arm of the church following the precepts of the Master.

Never in the history of the church has she fendered so great service to human kind as in the present century.

Increasingly the influence for good of the church has marched across the world and through the centuries. Enrolled in her service have been found the most brilliant minds, the greatest heroes and the most inspired genius. Historians have recorded her victories, poets have sung her praises, philosophers have bowed to her authority, kings have done her bidding, painters and sculptors have been inspired by her imagery and life has been enriched by her presence in the world. There is much that is right with the church. "The church of the living God and the pillar and ground of truth."

"For her my tears shall fall,
For her my prayers ascend,
To her my toils and cares be given
Till toils and cares shall end."

Lawyer Will Talk To Gospel Mission

Lawrence J. Heller, of Rabbi Simon's Congregation, Evening Speaker.

A young lawyer, member of Rabbi Simon's congregation, will speak Sunday night at the Central Union Mission Chapel on a subject which he has found in the Gospel by St Matthew.

This lawyer, Lawrence J. Heller, is a member of an old family in Washington and has often spoken to the congregation of the synagogue on religious topics. He is not a convert to Christianity, but is a student of the New Testament as well as of the Old, and when he rises to address his audience he will break the bread of life on this text: "We can not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God."

His theme, of course, is that materialism is a dead hand when it comes to lifting men to a higher and nobler activity, and that only through the things of the spirit can men go to their Father.

Former Capital Editor Will Be Guest Speaker

An editor, well known in Washington, where for some years he was assistant editor of the Journal of the National Education Association, Selden Carlyle Adams, will be the guest speaker at Northminster Presbyterian Chapel, Alaska avenue and Kalmia road, tomorrow. Mr. Adams is now an instructor in the Auburn School of Religious Education, Auburn, N. Y.

PASTORS' VACATIONS SOON WILL BE OVER

Rabbi Abram Simon Sees Moral Issues at Stake in Calendar Revision.

DR. DARBY HAS RETURNED

Now is the time for the vacationing pastors to be returning to their vacationless pastorates. In another week they will nearly all be back, browned by the sun and tanned by the wind, and with hearts aflame with zeal for the cause to which they have dedicated their lives.

Among the first of these brethren beloved to return is Rabbi Abram Simon, who has been spending some weeks at Lake Waneta, Livingston Manor, New York. While resting up from his heavy labors with one of the largest congregations in the city, Dr. Simon has been busying himself with a counterattack on the efforts now being made to revise our calendar.

To the Church Page has come a kind note from him.

"I am sure," he writes, "that you begin to see not only the difficulties involved in the revision of the calendar but the great moral issues at stake." Yes, one of them is that you can not change the seasons, and another is that Christmas always comes on Christmas Day.

Rev. A. L. Wills to Go Away.

The Rev. Alvin Lamar Wills, who is associate minister of the Church of the Epiphany, begins his vacation the middle of next week. He has been keeping the altar fires lit while the regular minister, Dr. Phillips, has been visiting Europe, and will proclaim the good tidings from his pulpit tomorrow.

The Rev. Harry L. Collier, pastor of the Full Gospel Tabernacle, who has been a holidayer at Ocean Grove, N. J., for the month of August, will be back in his work Tuesday night, when he will conduct the usual healing service.

Dr. John E. Briggs, pastor of the "popular people's" church, otherwise known as the Fifth Baptist Church, spends his vacation in a wrestling match with Satan. He has been holding revivals in Virginia, but will be in his pulpit tomorrow week.

Dr. Darby Returns.

Dr. William L. Darby, secretary of the Washington Federation of Churches, is back from the Pennsylvania mountains, improved in mind and body and spirit, fattened up on Lutheran chicken and buttermilk, and will preach twice tomorrow, in the morning at a church and in the afternoon under the treaty oak on Temple Heights.

Dr. Carl C. Rasmussen, pastor of Luther Place Memorial Church, has been spending the past month at the Lutheran Leadership Training Camp at Biglerville, Pa., conducting classes. He is a member of the faculty there. He will return to the city next week and will be in his pulpit Sunday morning, September 7.

The Rev. B. H. Melton, pastor of the Ninth Street Christian Church, has been spending the last month in Florida, and returns to his pastorate on Monday of next week.

Lutheran Ministers Will Exchange Pulpits

Two prominent Lutheran ministers will exchange pulpits tomorrow. The Rev. Dr. Walter H. Traub, pastor of Christ Lutheran Church, at York, Pa., will preach at Luther Place Memorial Church, and Dr. Carl C. Rasmussen, pastor of Luther Place, will preach for Dr. Traub's congregation.

Fair exchange is no robbery, and both congregations will hear a wide-awake sermon.

BEHIND THE SCREENS - - - With NELSON B. BELL

TWO newcomers, whose services will be at least semipermanent upon the local scene, put in their appearance at the Fox yesterday and each garnered himself a golden harvest of applause from efforts that were anything but arid. Eddie Peabody we have known before and are glad to welcome back; Bob West, guest-organist, bowing in for the first time, might well have been an old favorite, too, he was that warmly greeted.

It may develop later during the ensuing weeks of his engagement why the diminutive, but dynamic, Mr. Peabody is heralded as a master of ceremonies. He most certainly did not master any ceremonies yesterday at the performance I attended, but merely contributed his banjo act to the gayety of the "Sunshine" idea's premiering, garnishing his skillful twanging with a bit of singing now and again just to make the panic complete. Mr. Peabody is by all odds the cleverest plucker of the African harp that comes to these shores—except that I wish he and all other banjoists would abandon the hope of making heavy orchestral overtures sound as they were meant to sound on an instrument of the banjo's limitations. He does better with the "Poet and Peasant" business than I have ever heard anyone else do on the same fretted instrument, but that still isn't good enough. But when he gets around to "I'm Dancing with Tears in My Eyes" and the "St. Louis Blues," I mean he will pummel you right out of the pew!

And this Bob West fellow has an unusual way with him, too, no less potent than Mr. Peabody's. In his introductory organlogue he goes in less for musicianship and the artistic potentialities of the console than for breaking down the barriers and getting acquainted with his audience. This he accomplishes in no uncertain manner by means that are unique. When it is all over, the customers are not sure whether Mr. West is part of the audience or they are part of the show, but out of their perplexity they derive a vast amount of hilarious fun and Mr. West enough laughter and handclapping to compensate him handsomely for ten minutes of teasing and tricky tunefulness.

You are going to like these boys.

It may be my imagination, but that elevator-platform that comes up out of the pit where the orchestra used to be, for Mr. Peabody and a spotlight to occupy looks a little too substantial to be temporary!

By the way, and just as an illuminating sidelight on something or other, I understand that one of the most ardent of the union projectionists, employed in one of the downtown, first-run theaters, who owns and operates a small outlying house independently of his big-time job, brags that he employs only nonunion projectionists because he can get them cheaper. It isn't the principle, it's the profit of the thing!

When George Abbott left Hollywood for Broadway last February to direct his latest stage play, "Those We Love," he expressed the opinion that talking pictures were superior to the stage as a story telling medium. Back in the film city after several months' absence, Abbott still clings to his preference for the movies.

Abbott, once more in Hollywood, again is writing and directing for the screen. His initial production, following his defection, is "Manslaughter," the Alice Duer Miller melodrama which he adapted and directed as another in the long list of silent successes revamped as talking pictures and thus lent the new power of speech as well as mobility of movement.

"Manslaughter" is the first Paramount production to be presented at the RKO-Keith Theater under the new booking arrangements recently put into effect and inaugurates its run on Fifteenth street today.

"Going back to my first love, the stage, did not change my mind about the greater possibilities of the screen," says Abbott. "On the contrary, it only increased my enthusiasm for talking pictures as the most flexible and most effective story telling medium ever evolved. I got a new appreciation of the freedom of the camera from experiencing again the cramping limitations of the stage."

Slightly different, this, from the scornful and vituperative blast recently let loose against the audible cinema by the venerable David Belasco as a merry part of his seventy-something birthday celebration.

It would be a kindly gesture that I am sure would be heartily appreciated if some one would stage a benefit for Tom Mix while he is here Monday and Tuesday with the Sells-Floto circus, one of John Ringling's best tent attractions. John, you know, owns 'em all, whether they bear his name or not. The pay checks all do

But getting back to Tom, the former film star, with his horse, Tony, is known wherever shadows are flashed on screens, the old boy has fallen on evil days—oh, very evil! It is common gossip that his salary is only $10,000 per week, with Tony's oats in addition, and the pinch of poverty is so tight upon him that he can not even afford to live at a hotel while the circus is in town. Hotel? I should say not. I defy any one to find Tom registered at any Washington hostelry during his stay here, under his own or any other name.

No, sir; he will be living in his own private car, surrounded by a flock of personal servants and enjoying all of the luxurious comforts that once belonged to one of the highest railroad officials in the United States, for whom the car was built. I tell you the boy's in a tough spot!

And from the present outlook, if anybody wants to know, I could be telling you why they call it Labor Day.

NATS FACE 6 MORE GAMES HERE AS SEASON WANES

Westbrook Pegler Says

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Calling themselves the Loyal Giant Rooters but otherwise unidentified, a group of citizens have issued a rather excited appeal to the people of New York to go to the Polo Grounds, at their own expense, of course, and stand by John McGraw's Giants to the last. Just why the people should stand by John McGraw's Giants any more devotedly than they should stand by John Wanamaker's department store, the appeal does not specify, and perhaps it would be stupid of me to ask.

But I am stupid that way, at least, and considering that Wanamaker's employs several thousand local citizens whereas the Giants are all out-of-town boys who cut for home the minute the baseball season is over, I should think the department store would have a prior claim on the loyalty of the people. If a citizen needs a job, there is generally a fair chance of obtaining something to do in a big department store, but when the Giants want a ball player, they order him by phone from their Boston branch or their Toledo branch.

Moreover, if any one ought to stand by John McGraw's Giants, John McGraw himself should set the example, and Mr. McGraw did not stand by them nor anywhere near them during their recent journey through the Mid-West country, where, it is now understood, they lost the pennant to the Cubs when a fellow named Taylor stole home in the ninth.

McGraw No Longer Master Mind.

It is quite possible that this Taylor would have stolen even if Mr. McGraw had been present in the visitors' dugout at Chicago, for I remember his saying last year that he was no longer the master mind of the Giants but merely a benevolent time-checker who did not interfere with the mental or mechanical process of his athletes in action. He hadn't given a pitcher a sign all year, he explained at the time, and the legend of the master mind was just one of those popular superstitions like the junior welterweight championship of the world.

So it seems likely that even if Mr. McGraw had accompanied his ball club through the West, the result would have been no more cheery than it was. Taylor would have stolen home and the Giants would have returned to New York five games behind the Cubs.

But, conceding my point as to this, the Loyal Giant Rooters, whover and however many they may be, are asking much when they expect the citizens to display more loyalty to John McGraw's Giants than John McGraw himself betrays, even on his salary of $50,000 a year, if that is the figure.

McGraw Reported Seen At Saratoga.

He did explain, in a way, when the ball club was in Cincinnati, westward bound and doing well, that he was detained in New York on personal business. But when I was in Saratoga during this time I met a horse trainer, an admirer of John McGraw, who told of having met him there, and it occurred to me that he is often to be met at the horse-places when personal business is interfering with his loyalty to his own ball club.

I understand, of course, that Mr. McGraw is keeper of his own business and answerable only to the National Exhibition Co., owners and operators of the New York Giants, of which he is a stockholder and vice president. But the National Exhibition Co. is a turbulent concern, composed principally of three aging but always high-spirited boys who do not get along very well together, McGraw, Charlie Stoneham and his Honor Francis X. McQuade, a magistrate of New York City. Action is pending now to discipline the learned judge for holding private office while sitting on the bench, but this probably will come to nothing, although, considering the current reputation of the magistrates' courts in New York, the ball club might have legitimate grounds for protest.

After all, baseball is a reputable institution and the corporate officers of the baseball firms should avoid outside connections which might tend to create scandal contrary to the best interests of the game.

Line-up Subject to Change Without Notice.

The exact line-up among the three boys, McGraw, Stoneham and McQuade, is suspect to change without notice, but as a general thing it is safe to assume that McGraw is sore at Stoneham and McQuade, that McQuade is sore at Stoneham and McGraw and that Stoneham is sore at McGraw and McQuade. Last winter the boys enlivened the off-season with a series of law suits and intimations, and here a short while ago, while McGraw was home on personal business and the team was trouping without him, a man named McNally, described as the millionaire king of the bricklayers, bought up a block of stock in the firm, unreliably estimated at 30 per cent of the whole. This interest included the holding of William F. Kenney, known to some

Miss Nuthall, And Lott Beaten

Bow to Morrill and Shields in Title Semifinals.

British Girl's Hopes for Triple U. S. Net Crown Shattered.

BROOKLINE Mass. Aug. 29 (A.P.).—Betty Nuthall's hope of duplicating the 1924 and 1928 clean sweeps made by Mrs. Helen Wills Moody in the three most important tennis championships open to women, was shattered by the hard driving racquets of Marjorie Morrill, Dedham, and Frank Shields, New York, in one of the semifinals of the mixed doubles title play today at Longwood.

The British girl became the American women's singles champion and coholder of doubles title last Sunday at Forest Hills, N. Y., in Mrs. Moody's absence. She teamed in the present tourney with George Lott of Chicago, for the defense of the mixed title they won here last year. They galloped through the lower half of the draw without serious opposition until today, when they were outplayed widely by Miss Morrill and Shields, who won in straight sets, 6—3, 6—4.

Allison-Cross Team Enters Finals.

The other mixed finalists were Edith Cross, of San Francisco, and Wilmer Allison, Austin, Tex. They entered the championship round by defeating Mrs. J. Dallas Corbiere, Southboro, and Fritz Mercur, Bethlehem, Pa., 6—3, 6—4. The Californian-Texan combination dominated the match from the first game.

The British-American team, however, was surprisingly unsteady for players of their ranking.

Tomorrow, Lott and Johnny Doeg, of Santa Monica, Calif., will defend their national doubles championship against the Davis Cup doubles players, Allison and Johnny Van Ryn, of East Orange, N. J., who have defeated the former team three times this season, once for the British doubles title at Wimbledon.

Both sets of men's finalists reached the last round yesterday when the champions defeated Bill Tilden and Frank Hunter and Allison and Van Ryn blasted another Texas-New Jersey combination out of their paths, Berkley Bell and Gregory Mangin.

Two Philly Players Optioned to Orioles

Philadelphia, Aug. 29 (A.P.).—Gerry Nugent, business manager of the Philadelphia Nationals, today announced the release on option to the Baltimore Internationals of Harry Smythe, a left-handed pitcher, and Tripp Sigman, an outfielder.

Finn's Error Enables Giants to Down Robins

New York, Aug. 29 (A.P.).—The Giants came from behind in the late innings today to recapture second place from the Brooklyn Robins with a 3-to-2 victory which broke their losing streak of five games.

Bill Clark and Freddy Fitzsimmons had an old-fashioned pitchers' duel each team getting eight hits. The Giant pitcher was retired for a pinch-hitter and Bill Walker got credit for the victory. Clark lost the game when Finn fumbled Ott's grounder with the score tied in the eighth and Hogan and Jackson singled to bring in the winning run. The misplay came just after Ethan Allen had tied the score with a home run.

The Robins jumped into the lead in the first inning, when Frederick started the game with a double, advanced to third as Gilbert was thrown out and scored on Herman's sacrifice fly. Bressler's homer in the second was the other Robin run.

The Giants did not score until the seventh when Hogan and Jackson hit successive singles and the big catcher came home while Roettger was forcing Jackson at second.

D. C. Entries in Amateur Title Golf Play Rejected

U. S. G. A. Declines to Accept Entries of Stevinson, Pitt and Shorey, Leaving Washington With No Representation in Event.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WES.

WHEN the national amateur golf championship begins on the course of the Merion Club, near Philadelphia, on September 23, the list of golfers who will compete in the qualification round wil not contain the name of a single Washington player. Of course, Roland McKenzie and George J. Voigt, who were formerly Washington golfers, will be admitted because they are eligible by virtue of qualification at Pebble Beach last year, but Mackenzie now registers from Wilmington, Del., and Voigt is a resident of New York.

Three well known Washington players sought opportunity to compete in the national event—Miller B. Stevinson, of the Columbia Club and District amateur champion; Harry G. Pitt, of the Manor Club and former Middle Atlantic champion, and John C. Shorey, of Bannockburn and semifinalist in the recent Middle Atlantic championship.

Rejections Give District No Entrants.

All three have been rejected. Official notice to this effect was received yesterday from the United States Golf Association. This will be the first time in many years that a national amateur golf championship will be without representation from this section.

Having failed to qualify at any time during the past three years, Stevinson was no longer automatically eligible for qualification, but it was expected that he would be admitted upon his local record. He has won the District amateur championship during the past two consecutive years and has figured conspicuously in the local club invitation tournaments, although this year his victories have been confined to the Washington Golf and Country Club and the runner-up position at the Chevy Chase Club. In 1926 he qualified at Baltusrol by playing off a tie for the thirty-second place and after defeating Roland Mackenzie in the first round was eliminated in the second round by Fred J. Wright. The fact that he has since failed to qualify probably led to his rejection this year.

Records of Pitt, Shorey Too Local.

The principal feature of Pitt's record during this year was the fact that he won the Chevy Chase club invitation tournament for the third consecutive time, but this succession of victories, together with the fact that he was the medalist at the Washington club, evidently did not appeal strongly in support of his application.

Although Shorey's ability as a golfer is very generally conceded in this section, the rejection of his application did not cause great surprise. While he has won minor tournaments this year, including Woodmont and Sherwood Forest, and although he was, as stated, a semifinalist in the recent Middle Atlantic championship, his record was confined to local events and apparently did not carry much weight with the governing committee.

Entries closed last night for the District junior golf championship, 36 holes, medal play, which is scheduled for next Tuesday on the course of the Washington Golf and Country Club, and the pairings were announced last night by Dr. William C. Barr, secretary of the District Golf Association.

Peacock Defending Junior Golf Crown.

Roger Peacock, who won the title last year when a member of the Indian Spring Club, will defend his title but this year is registered from the Argyle Club. The list of entrants is noticeable for the fact that it does not contain the name of any junior player from Indian Spring or Washington, although it was expected that

NOTRE DAME AND PENN IN GRID PACT

Quakers and Irish to Meet at Football Next 4 Years.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28 (A.P.).—Pennsylvania and Notre Dame will meet on the gridiron the next four years, Sydney E. Hutchinson, chairman of the Penn council on athletics, announced today. The contract signed last year called for only two home and home games, 1930 and 1931, with this year's contest at Franklin Field on November 8.

Mr. Hutchinson's announcement was made after a conference with Knute Rockne, Notre Dame coach, and a number of Pennsylvania football officials.

Notre Dame comes to Franklin Field this year for the first gridiron meeting in history with Penn, and the Red and Blue returns the visit on the corresponding Saturday next fall.

By the new agreement, Notre Dame will again visit Franklin Field November 5, 1932, and on November 4, 1933, Pennsylvania goes to South Bend.

This announcement, which is subject to the ratification of the Penn council on athletics, considered a mere formality, follow closely on the home and home two-year series with Ohio State announced yesterday by Pennsylvania, which starts in 1932.

Rockne appeared in excellent health and said he would be "out there at the start of the season, September 15, with all the old pep." Asked his opinion of night football, he said it "may be all right for a small college trying to boost its football revenues, but as far as the bigger universities are concerned, there is no substitute for a good Saturday afternoon game in sunlight."

Coach Rockne will leave here tomorrow for Annapolis to discuss football plans with the Naval Academy authorities.

Browns Rout Whitehill; Goslin Gets 31st Homer

St. Louis, Aug. 29 (A.P.).—With a six-run lead piled up in the first inning, the St. Louis Browns took their third consecutive game of the series from Detroit, 9-6, here today.

The Browns got to Whitehill for seven hits, including Schulte's homer, in the initial frame, while only one man was retired, and Manager Bucky Harris decided it was not his day to pitch. Wyatt, who replaced Whitehill, was the batting star, getting three hits, including a circuit drive, in three times up. Goslin hit his thirty-first home run of the season in the seventh inning, and Kress also hit into the bleachers.

INDIANS BOW TO CHISOX IN 13TH

Caraway Holds Tribe to 3 Hits and Stars With Willow.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 29 (A.P.).—Cecil (Pat) Caraway pitched a sensational 13-inning shutout over the hard-hitting Cleveland Indians today and won his own game for the Chicago White Sox by smacking a double, which scored the first run off recruit Clint Brown. The final score was 3 to 6.

Caraway limited the Indians to three singles, all in the regulation nine innings. He came to bat in the thirteenth after Brown had put himself into a hole by allowing Clancy to single and fumbling Watwood's sacrifice to give both runners safety. A ringing smash off the right-field screen by Caraway sent Clancy across with the winning run. Then Mulleavy cracked a single to score Watwood and Caraway. That was enough as Caraway easily turned back the last three Indians' batters.

Seattle Policeman Small Arms Champ

Camp Perry, Ohio, Aug. 29 (A.P.).—Patrolman James D. Twohig, of Seattle, Wash., won the individual police pistol match in the national small arms tournament here today with a score of 271 out of a possible 300.

Claude F. Shaylor, Portland, Oreg., and James E. Davis, Los Angeles, also had 271 scores, but Twohig was declared winner because of superiority in the rapid fire part of the match.

Cubs Defeat Cards, 9-8, In 13th

Score 5 in 9th to Knot String; Each Gets Three in 11th.

Hack Wilson Lost to Cubs Because of Lame Back.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29 (A.P.).—A remarkable uphill battle gave the Cubs a 9-to-8 triumph over the high-flying St. Louis Cardinals after thirteen exciting innings today and snapped the St. Louis winning streak after nine successive victories.

The victory put the Cubs five and a half games ahead of the New York Giants, who took second place again today and cost the Cardinals a chance of going into third.

For eight innings Haines shut out the Cubs in fine style, but he weakened in the ninth and the Cubs belted him and Herman Bell for five hits and knotted the score. In the eleventh, Jim Bottomley hit a homer with two aboard only to see his 8-5 lead melt as the Cubs piled up singles for three more runs and a second tie.

None Out in 13th When Cubs Win.

With Burleigh Grimes on the mound in the thirteenth, the Cubs put over the winning run before the first man had been retired. Riggs Stephenson opened the frame with a triple. The next two men were purposely passed and Lester Bell belted a single to left to drive in the deciding run.

The Cardinals piled up five runs in the first five innings with a home run by Watkins as the most important clout. With the game apparently won, Haines eased up in the ninth and Dan Taylor and Kelly opened the inning with singles. With one out, an error filled the bases and Pinch Hitter Gabby Hartnett drove in two runs with a single. Blair and English also singled to make at 5 to 4 before the second man was retired and Bell was called to the mound. Bell passed Stephenson to fill the bases and handed another pass to Taylor, forcing in the tying run and sending the teams into their second extra-inning game.

Hack Wilson, slugging outfielder, who is setting the pace in the home-run race, was unable to play today because of a lame back. He will be back in the line-up tomorrow or Sunday, it is believed.

Baltimore Legion Nine Wins National Title

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 29 (A.P.).—Baltimore's entry in the American Legion junior world's series was supreme in the youngsters' world of sandlot baseball tonight. The boys from Maryland won the Legion championship from New Orleans today, making the most of hits, errors and wild pitching to win, 10 to 4.

That same young "Nutty" Weiner who contributed much to his team's 4 to 4 victory yesterday was in there again this afternoon, batting five runs across. He also scored in the fourth.

Buffalo is the fourth Legion champion. Buffalo won last year, also from a New Orleans team. That city's entry has been runner-up twice in the series, instituted by the Legion as a boost for sportsmanship and "Americanism."

Broadway Limited, $65,000 Colt, Stricken Dead in Race

LINCOLN FIELDS RACE TRACK, Ill., Aug. 29 (A.P.).—Broadway Limited, 3-year-old gelded son of Man o' War—Star Light, for which W. T. Waggoner, owner of the Three D's Stable, is said to have paid $65,000 as a yearling, dropped dead while racing in the second number here this afternoon. His rider, T. May, escaped with a few bruises and a shaking up.

Broadway Limited was making his second start since running in the Kentucky Derby and was running next to last today when he suddenly went down with great force just as he was turning into the stretch for home.

The track veterinarian said the Man o' War gelding suffered a heart attack and probably was dead before he struck the ground.

Gar Wood and British Lass Clash Today for Speed Cup

Course's Many Turns Call for Nerve as Well as Speed.

DETROIT, Aug. 29 (A.P.).—With the British challengers and the United States defenders seemingly equal in speed, nerve promises to play a large part in deciding the winner of the Harmsworth Trophy races, the first heat of which will be run on the Detroit River tomorrow afternoon. It will require no little nerve to take the several turns on the 5-mile course with a minimum deceleration of speed.

On the straightaway stretches the hydroplanes will be approximating 90 miles an hour. Gar Wood, defender of the trophy, has said that the speed reduction making the turns is at least 10 miles an hour.

24 Sharp Turns in 30-Mile Heat.

The course is long and narrow, and no fewer than 24 sharp turns must be made before the 30-mile heat has been finished. Wood has the advantage of having been over the course many times oftener than the challengers' pilots, Miss Marion Barbara Carstairs and Bert Hawker. He also is given an advantage in the fact that his mechanic, Orlin Johnson, has teamed with him in six Harmsworth races, numerous gold cup contests and scores of other speed-boat events.

On the other hand, the British challenging craft, Estelle IV and Estelle V, are admitted to be the fastest boats Wood ever has been called upon to race against.

Third Challenge by Miss Carstairs.

Miss Carstairs, attractive young British girl, has monopolized most of the spotlight in the activities preliminary to the race, largely because of her courage in three times challenging the veteran Wood, and her sportsmanship. She pilots her boat with the skill and daring of a seasoned speedboat veteran. She will be at the wheel of Estelle IV tomorrow, while Hawker will pilot Estelle V, faster of the two challengers.

Although Wood has entered three boats, the Miss Americas V, VIII and IX, there is a disposition to believe that barring accidents the race will resolve itself into a duel between Wood in Miss America IX, and Hawker at the wheel of Estelle V. "If I can keep her on the course I'll have plenty of speed to win," Hawker said, referring to Estelle V.

Two Regulars Join Catholic U. Gridmen

Two regulars of last year and two outstanding graduates of the freshman squad yesterday bolstered the group of football men working out at Catholic University under "Dutch" Bergman, new coach from Minnesota.

Joining the squad were Rocco Blasi, end; Nick Monaco, guard; Tom Whelan, half back, and Johnny Stapleton, end. Both Whelan and Stapleton starred for the 1929 freshmen.

Miss Page, Mrs. Tyson In West's Golf Final

Kansas City, Aug. 29 (A.P.).—Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City, defending champion in the women's Western golf tournament, was eliminated from the twenty-eighth annual tournament today by Miss Dorothy Page, Madison, Wis., but the 36-hole final tomorrow will find two former Western champions competing.

Miss Page, champion in 1927, will meet Mrs. G. W. Tyson, Kansas City, winner in 1923 and national champion in 1927. Miss Page defeated Mrs. Hill one up on the eighteenth green, while Mrs. Tyson turned back the 1929 runner-up, Mrs. Gregg Lifur, 3 and 2.

Whereas Mrs. Tyson held the advantage at the turn and at no time throughout the match was behind, Miss Page came from behind to take the lead and then played doggedly to stave off a last-hole rally of the titleholder.

Baltimore Legion Nine Wins National Title

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 29 (A.P.).—Baltimore's entry in the American Legion junior world's series was supreme in the youngsters' world of sandlot baseball tonight. The boys from Maryland won the Legion championship from New Orleans today, making the most of hits, errors and wild pitching to win, 10 to 4.

That same young "Nutty" Weiner who contributed much to his team's 4 to 4 victory yesterday was in there again this afternoon, batting five runs across. He also scored in the fourth.

Buffalo is the fourth Legion champion. Buffalo won last year, also from a New Orleans team. That city's entry has been runner-up twice in the series, instituted by the Legion as a boost for sportsmanship and "Americanism."

Maranville Is Hero As Braves Beat Phils

Philadelphia, Aug. 29 (A.P.).—The Braves won a thrilling eleven-inning contest from the Phillies here today by the score of 9 to 8, to take a two to one lead in the series.

Rabbit Maranville, the veteran shortstop of the visitors, was the king pin in the triumph. He blasted out four hits and handled ten chances in the field without an error. Many of them were difficult.

JAMESTOWN FACES STRONG FIELD AT SARATOGA

Widener Star Favored in Hopeful

Novelist and Epithet Rated Highly in $60,000 Race.

Gallant Fox Choice to Show Way in Saratoga Cup.

By GEORGE DALEY.

SARATOGA RACE TRACK, N. Y., Aug. 29 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—One of the most brilliant and successful meetings in recent years will come to a close tomorrow afternoon with the running of six races at the Saratoga Association's beautiful track.

Two champions in all probability will add fresh laurels to their crowns, Jamestown in the $60,000 Hopeful Stakes, for 2-year-olds, at 6½ furlongs, and Gallant Fox, in the fiftieth running of the Saratoga Cup, the meeting's weight for age classic at 1 mile and 6 furlongs.

Jamestown Faces Hard Task.

George D. Widener's Jamestown has the harder task. The bay son of St. James will pick up the steadying impost of 130 pounds and give big weight to one of the strongest fields that has gone to the post this season. Among these are Joseph E. Widener's Novelist, which finished second to him in the United States Hotel and the Grand Union Hotel Stakes; Gifford A. Cochrane's Epithet, which ran the fastest 5 furlongs of the meeting in his only start; Sun Meadow and Surf Board, both stake winners, and ten more, fancied well enough by their owners to pay $500 starting fee for the chance at the second richest purse for juveniles of the Easter season.

Condescend has been named by George D. Widener as a running mate for Jamestown. Jamestown has made a remarkable race record here. He has won all the major stakes for juveniles in succession, the Flash, the United States Hotel Stakes, the Saratoga Special and the Grand Union Hotel Stakes. His only other start was in an overnight event at Aqueduct, which he also won most impressively.

May Scratch Jamestown If Track Is Muddy.

A slight filling over one of his front ankles caused Jack Joyner, his trainer, some concern, but in the opinion of the veteran horseman, the son of St. James is ready to run the race of his life. However, if the track is muddy, he will not start and Mr. Widner will pin his hopes on Condescend.

—Saratoga Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, Aug. 29.—The rich Hopeful Stakes, up for its twenty-sixth running, scheduled to gross around $60,000, has attracted 16 of the most prominent 2-year-olds for tomorrow. The race will be broadcast by the National Broadcasting Co. at about 4:45 p. m. and the Saratoga Cup, in which Gallant Fox will be a starter, also will be put on the air 30 minutes later.

The Hopeful is Saratoga's richest stake and in reality is a futurity. This being the closing large stake of the meeting, a large crowd is here for the week-end of sport, with the Hopeful the outstanding attraction.

The unbeaten JAMESTOWN, even with his high impost, is believed capable of winning from probably the largest field of stars in recent years. Last year, when Boojum won the Hopeful, setting a world record for the 6½ furlongs of 1:17, he carried only 117 pounds. At Saratoga, JAMESTOWN has won the flash, the Saratoga Special, the United States Hotel and the Grand Union Hotel Stakes, and under strong opposition.

He has never met EPITHET, but in his last race J. E. Widener's NOVELIST seemed to have him about straight when, at the sixteenth, he responded to the whip and bounded away, winning by a neck, but was drawing away. Two things happened in the race that worked to the disadvantage of JAMESTOWN.

NOVELIST is a fast colt and will probably again give a battle. But if JAMESTOWN has an even race it looks like he will leave Saratoga with a perfect score and a big sum of earned money to go into the futurity again a favorite. CONDESCEND will help him in this race, but has a fashion of lugging into the rail that might get both disqualified. JAMESTOWN had a satisfactory work Thursday and is as sound as a dollar.

The enigma of the hopeful is the Epinard colt. He has had one race, in which he beat The Gen six lengths, five furlongs in 59 3-5. It is known that NOVELIST, SURFBOARD, RIP VAN WINKLE and others will run good and probably dangerous races, but no one knows how good EPITHET may be. He gets in with 117 and runs like a deer from a pack of hounds.

FIRST RACE—This is a claiming affair. DRACONIS should win. STURDY has had more even racing and may be the contender, but DRACONIS has a high flight of speed and is rounding into good form. WRESTLER seems next best. DAIL did not show enough in his reappearance this week to give him a look-in. He is not the horse he once was.

SECOND RACE—The $5,000 Saratoga Steeplechase Handicap is a classic, no less because only three horses have been entered for its renewal. RULER, which should have won his last start by a wide margin when he ran out when far in the lead, is selected to beat the old champion, JOLLY ROGER, and give him four pounds. JOLLY ROGER fell in his last start on the slippery turf, and the weather again is showery. The other starter is MOHOLI, which has speed and jumps well.

THIRD RACE—DR. FREELAND should win the third race from SUN MISSION at a mile. It is a handicap, with SUN MISSION carrying tops. DUST 'EM ALL will cut a figure and should take show money from FLYER, a Western whirlwind.

FIFTH RACE—The Saratoga Cup was first run in 1865, and this will be its fiftieth running. It is mile and six furlongs. GALLANT FOX looks easily best in the long race, with his running mate, FRISIUS, next. GONE AWAY should be third. It has been said that GALLANT FOX will not start if the track is not fast. It is showery, and the condition at post time can not be foretold, but it is given a strong belief that GALLANT FOX will start rain or shine and that he will win easily.

SIXTH RACE—The race is for 2-year-olds. BATTY should improve and is picked to beat HARLEM. BLACK FEATHER has the call on third money.

FINITE was much the best. He was allowed to rate off the fast early pace, was taken to the outside in stretch and, closing gamely, won going away. TETRARCHAL broke fast, raced CRAZY COOT into submission in the first three furlongs and drew away on turn, but was no match for the winner. SHADY LADY was hard hustled all the way and ran a good race. EDDIE AHEARN, fractious at the barrier, got away slow and closed a big gap. CRAZY COOT had early speed. JACK CAMPBELL was outrun. LOST AGNES had no mishaps.

STEFANA was hard ridden all the way and was next best. THAIS broke slow, failed to show any speed, was under the whip in last three furlongs, but failed to close any ground. ALLEZ VITE ran an even race. The others were outrun.

RUBY KELLER, outrun as usual in early part, came around field in stretch, but was hard ridden to win. WOOLORAC, showing improvement, closed with a rush. BRIGHT RED was miserably ridden, being used up racing with the pace and suffering interference at top of stretch. CHIEF'S MOUNTAINEER had plenty of speed and held on gamely.

SIXTH RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For maiden 2-year-olds. Start poor. Won easily; place, same. Went to post at 5:32. Off at 5:36½. Winner, Lee Rosenberg's b. c. THE Pullman Co. Team, representing the Terminal Evening League, won its second game and set the stage for Tuesday's important clash with the Tile Setters by defeating the District Repair Shop Nine, 13-4, in the week-day leagues championship series on the Terminal field yesterday. Despite the scoring of seventeen runs, the game was fast, requiring only 1 hour and 35 minutes.

The Repairmen on their victory over Naval Hospital entered the game on even terms with Pullman. However, the Departmental League champions could not click at any stage of the game and found Babe Clapper, Pullman pitcher, a mighty burden after the first inning.

Smithson Leads in 13-Hit Attack.

The Departmental Nine used three pitchers with Buscher, who finished the game, doing the best work.

Smithson led the Pullman thirteen-hit attack with two doubles and a single. Chaconas made a double and triple and Sahl and Colliere each got a pair of doubles.

Much made two of the five hits off Clapper, who fanned eight batters.

Seven runs were trotted across the plate in the first inning. Pullman opened the game with four, the result of two walks, doubles by Stahl and Chaconas, Booker's single and an error.

Repairmen Come Back With 3 Runs.

The Repairmen came back with three in their half. A walk, singles by Much and Noone with Clark's triple and an error turned the trick. Colliere later picked Clark off third.

Pullman began to pile up a big advantage in the second when it chased over two runs. The Terminal champions added four in the fifth, two in the sixth and one in the seventh.

After the first, Clapper held the Repairmen to a single tally in the sixth inning, singles by Much and Hoffman.

D. C. PRINTER NINE WINS, 15 TO 4

Defeats Chicago and Plays Twice Today in Tourney.

Special to The Washington Post.

PITTSBURGH, PA., Aug. 29.—The Washington Typos continued their march toward another pennant in the Union Printers baseball tournament when they defeated Chicago at Magee Field, 15 to 4. The victory today puts the Washington Team in an advantageous position for pennant honors, as the defeat of Chicago is looked upon as a sure bet that the Washingtonians will cop their third straight flag.

Roudabush was on the mound again today for the victors and was in rare form. He permitted the heavy sluggers from the Windy City but four hits. And these were well scattered. The fielding of the Capital City team in today's game was a little off form. No more than six errors were chalked against them. The misplays, however, did not prove costly, as Roudabush bore down in the pinches and was never in danger.

Homan and Edwards Hit Homers.

Homan and Edwards were the heavy hitters today, both getting three blows, among them a home apiece. Homan hit for the circuit in the eighth with two men on bases. Edwards turned his circuit clout in the third.

The crucial stage of the tournament will take place tomorrow when Washington plays a double-header. Their opponent has not been selected, but indications are that it will be Chicago. Should the District players cop both ends of the bargain bill there will be no question that the championship will be theirs. But should they lose one of the games tomorrow they will be eliminated.

afternoon and tomorrow. The "King of Clout" has been sailing along well ahead of his record home-run pace of 1927, but he suddenly has found himself slipping, the result being that if he fails to get a circuit clout in the two games here he will drop behind the pace he set when he poled out 60 in a season.

In 1927 Ruth hit his forty-fifth homer during the 128th game of that year. Today he finds himself with a 1930 total of 44 and this afternoon's contest will be No. 127. As the "Bambino" has a habit of coming through in the pinches, Sam Jones and Irving Hadley, who is due to do the Washington pitching tomorrow, will have their work cut out for them.

GEORGETOWN DRILLS.

All Georgetown Midgets are requested to report today for practice on diamond No. 3 at 1 o'clock. Tomorrow Georgetown will play the King's Palace Nine at 11 o'clock on the same diamond.

SAYS PEGLER

local fans as a friend of Al Smith, who had bought in a few years back and for a time seemed determined to buy out Stoneham's controlling interest.

Mr. McGraw's explanation did not explain, and naturally there is considerable curiosity as to what is doing in the ownership of the New York Giants, to whom the customers are requested to yield their loyalty in the present emergency. I think that if he had just said he had a sore foot or walked into a door while looking for the mosquito lotion in the dark at his suburban home, his absence from the ball club might have been accepted as just another of those McGrawian mishaps. But when he mentioned business and a big share of stock exchanged hands, the idea naturally came to mind that perhaps Mr. Stoneham was about to sell out at last and that McGraw was hanging around to protect himself in the melee. He owns 5 per cent of the firm and if he could sell out profitably he could walk across the Harlem River Bridge and hang up his hat in the Yankee's locker-room without the loss of a day's work, and at a very high rate of pay.

McGraw Has Way of Own With the Press.

Mr. McGraw has a way of his own with the press. The newspapers send men around the country with his ball clubs year after year, but he treats them rough, tells them nothing and gets away with it. It is unethical, traveling with the Giant Team, to ask him why he trades a Hornsby for a leaky water-bucket or why he quits the club mysteriously at the critical time of the season.

Fair enough, I call all this. Mystery and scandal sell as many papers as the box scores do, and Mr. McGraw has sold a lot of papers both ways.

Yet, if I were a customer and some group of Loyal Giant Rooters having no phone book address entreated me to loyal ravings for the club, I should be inclined to say, "If McGraw doesn't care, why should I?"

Richmond Amateur Wins Virginia Open Golf Title

Thompson, Public Links Star, Upsets Dope; Shorey's Putter Fails and He Ties Hancock for Third Place.

Special to The Washington Post.

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 29.—For the first time since the inauguration of the Virginia open golf tournament an amateur golfer has proven his mettle and asserted his supremacy against a field composed of the outstanding professional golfers in the Old Dominion.

Harry Thompson, husky young public links star of Richmond, upset tradition by capturing the 72-hole medal championship today over his home course, Westkood.

Adding a 77—71—148 to his brilliant score of yesterday, Thompson registered 296 to lead his nearest competitor, Charlie Isaacs, of Winchester, 1928 champion, by the margin of one stroke.

Shorey and Hancock Tie for Third.

Tied for third place were Mel Shorey, crack District professional, representing the Washington Golf and Country Club, of Clarendon, and Roland Hancock, of Lynchburg, 1929 title holder, who finished with scores of 302. Shorey hitched on an 80—73—153 to his score of 149 made the opening day, while Hancock had 74—79—153—149.

J. W. Kelley, youngster from Ocean View, finished fifth in the money with 304, while Nelson Long, Roanoke pro, qualified for the sixth position, trailing Kelley by a stroke. Billy Howell, of Richmond, Middle Atlantic States champion, missed the charmed circle by a stroke.

Tommy Ryan, towering pro from the Bell Haven Club, of Alexandria, created a furore with his 71-72 score today, but a disastrous opening day card of 165 ruined his chances. Ryan, who with Isaacs and Thompson, shared for the best 18-hole round, went around in 308.

E. P. Hair, amateur from Roslyn, scored 78—77—155—162 for 317.

Shorey's Putter Fails Him.

Shorey played beautiful golf until he reached the green, but here his putter refused to behave and the Washington pro missed putt after putt to see his chances spoiled. Still Shorey left tonight $70 richer as a result of his gallant efforts.

Isaac's finish was dramatic. Coming to the final hole today needing a par to tie the new champion, the Winchester pro, blew his chances by missing a 3-foot putt.

Ocean City, N. J., Aug. 29 (A.P.).—Jay Cohn and Jack Lynch, of California, earned the right to play for the Atlantic Coast boys' singles tennis championship by smothering their semifinal opponents.

Cohn, national boys' singles champion, encountered Al Schmidheiser, of Elkins Park, in the first semifinal and swept through the latter to the tune of 6—0, 6—0.

Lynch, who with Cohn, captured the boys' national doubles title, disposed of little Donald Hutcheson, of Orlando, Fla., with the loss of but one game, the scores being 6—0, 6—1.

Both these youths are in the semifinals of the junior singles, in which Cohn will face Leonard Morrison, of Washington, D. C., while Lynch will engage Billy Jacobs, of Baltimore.

CAPITAL CITY GRID TEAMS FORMING

150 and 135 Pounders Meet Next Week at French's.

WITH the crack St. Stephen's Club eleven, last year's champion, ready to defend its title and indications that the number of teams in the 150-pound class may reach ten this season, the Capital City League made its first plans for the coming championship race last night. The entrance of at least one team from Alexandria has assured an intercity touch to the race.

The next meeting will be held at the Howard A. French Co. Sports Store on Wednesday night at 8 o'clock.

League officials decided last night to hold the 135-pound class meeting at French's store next Thursday night, at 7 o'clock.

The league is making arrangements for a number of fields where collections may be taken or admission charged by the competing teams to aid them in financing their clubs. Present indications are that Government fields will not be used for league games.

STOCK PRICES CLIMB FROM 1 TO 6 POINTS

RAILS' TREND IMPROVES

New York, Aug. 29 (A.P.).—The stock market ended the month of August with one of the most substantial upturns since July today, although it must be pointed out that the month has been a period of narrow movements on the upside.

The closing of the exchange for the three-day week-end found that putting the speculative house in order required more closing out of short than long contracts, and as shorts attempted to buy back their stocks offerings appeared only after considerable bidding.

The bull operators hoping for better market conditions after Labor Day took advantage of the situation to exert considerable pressure on the shorts, evidently to give the market a strong close for the purpose of leaving a reassuring impression in the minds of traders.

The price average of 90 shares gained only about 2 points, but individual advances ranged from 1 to 6. The advance was not as wide as that of Tuesday. Trading was extremely dull during the fore part of the session, but quickened as the advance got under way. Total sales aggregated 1,858,820 shares, a fair turnover, considering that many active traders had left town yesterday.

Celotex Dividend Omitted.

Such displeasing corporate news as the omission of the Celotex and Oliver Farm Equipment preferred dividends was without visible effect upon the list. The further reduction of $26,000,000 in brokers' loans was given more consideration and bulls placed a favorable interpretation on it, asserting that it indicated the market was in an important period of accumulation.

The weekly mercantile reviews were mildly cheerful, pointing to moderate pickup in both wholesale and retail trade, and some gains in industrial activity. Despite the fresh heaviness of wheat, it was notable that the Bradstreet's weekly food price index showed a slight gain. Bradstreet's still described business as "quiet," adding that stirrings of seasonal buying were more in evidence. Dun's pointed to a better undertone in business, explaining, "any turn in the right direction at this time, however slight and although not generally manifest, is considered significant as an indication of further gains to come."

Credit conditions failed to show any tightening, despite the holiday currency requirements, estimated at close to $100,000,000. Banks seemed to be amply supplied with cash, and eagerness to employ funds in the call loan market over the week-end resulted in quick replacement of withdrawals. Call loans held at 2 per cent. A further gold shipment to France was announced.

Rails displayed a better tone than for several days. The short interest in this group has been large, and July earnings statements, while showing little improvement, have at least shown a change of trend. A wide assortment of industrials, amusements and specialties gained 2 points or more.

Baltimore & Ohio Rises.

Such shares as American Can, American Telephone and U. S. Steel gained about 2 points. U. S. Steel was an active feature, and more than made up the 1¾ dividend. Shares gaining 2 to 4 points included Air Reduction, Baltimore & Ohio, St. Paul, Chicago Northwestern, Rock Island, Eastman, Loews, Fox, Warner Bros., Macy, Southern Railway, Norfolk & Western, Westinghouse Electric, and Worthington. Some of the oils turned upward. Independent gained 2 in a fair turnover, and Royal Dutch rallied as much.

Electric Autolite dropped 6¾, then rallied to reduce its loss to 4¼ late in the day, but this did not have any appreciable effect upon the rest of the list.

Corn futures were the feature of the commodities, rising about 2 cents on bullish private crop reports. Wheat was sluggish, closing unchanged to 1 cent lower. Cotton turned heavy late in the day and closed about $1.50 a bale lower.

Foreign exchanges eased. Sterling cables slipped back 1-16 to $4.86 15-16, and most of the Latin-Americans were again under pressure.

Salina, Kans., Aug. 29 (A.P.).—President Nathan L. Jones, Salina capitalist, in a statement today explained details of the acquisition of control of the American Service Co. and the Western Power, Light & Telephone Co. by the newly incorporated Power, Light & Service Co.

ARGENTINE BONDS DECLINE SHARPLY

Political Situation Causing Latin-American List to Toboggan.

CONVERTIBLE ISSUES UP

New York, Aug. 29 (A.P.).—Disquieting reports of military and political trouble in Latin-American countries caused sharp breaks in a wide list of foreign bonds on the New York exchange today.

The heaviest pressure was applied on Argentine obligations and the prices of about a dozen bonds dropped 1 to 3 points with the average loss about 2. Bonds of Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Buenos Aires, Sao Paulo, Costa Rica and Rio Grande do Sul were reactionary with many losses of more than 1 point, and Uruguay bonds were heavy in sympathy.

The weakness in the Latin-American list, with the sharpest declines in months, overshadowed interest in the quiet movement of domestic bonds, where changes were of a divergent nature.

Several Rails Hit Peaks.

More than a dozen railroad and utility issues reached new highs under broadened trading that climaxed a week in which former price levels were eclipsed.

Among the issues advancing to new highs were Chicago, Burlington & Quincy 3½s, Chicago Great Western 4s, Long Island 5s, St. Louis Southwestern 4s, Chicago & Alton 3s, St. Paul 4¾s, Virginia Railway 5s, Central of New Jersey 5s, Big Four 5s, D, California Gas & Electric 5s, Detroit Edison 5s and Portland Electric Power 6s.

Bethlehem Steel 5s, Bowman-Biltmore 7s, Central Steel 8s, Container Corporation 5s and White Sewing Machine 6s gained a point or more. Industrials were the only group to show an advance in the averages.

American Telephone Rises.

The buoyancy of stocks was reflected in the improved status of convertible and warrant bonds, some advancing to the highest level in several weeks. American Telephone 4½s reached 105, up 4¼. American Natural Gas 6½s, with warrants, gained about the same. Atchison 4½s rose 1¼, while other railroad convertibles held firm. Amusement issues were among the chief gainers. General Theaters 6s advanced 2; Warner Brothers 6s 1½; Pathe warrant 7s 1 and Loew's 6s 3⅝.

Standard European Governments were firm. Muncipal bonds of the British Empire were in demand. Austrian 7s, Japan 5½s, Belgian 6½s and 7s made good gains. Mexican and Peruvian issues moved contrary to the general trend in the Latin-American section, rising 1 and 2 points.

Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

THE copying of successful radio acts presented by the networks is declared to be on the increase, most of the imitators trying to do the "Amos 'n' Andy," "Uncle Abe and David," Rudy Vallee and Will Osborne features through the smaller stations.

What provokes the big broadcasters is that there is nothing they can do about it, since there is never an outright "steal," the material being slightly different, though written and delivered in the same manner as the originals. While the damage to the network offerings is probably slight, there are no doubt many small towns where poor imitators lose listeners for their own station and the network as well.

Bill Cunningham, former all-American football star from Dartmouth, and now sports editor for a Boston paper, will be the guest speaker in Ted Husing's "Sportslants" (WMAL, 6:15 p. m.).

STATION WJSV will broadcast an account of the annual firemen's parade between 10:30 o'clock and noon on Labor Day.

The Federal Radio Commission has reiterated that while it has no intention of hampering the growing art of television, applicants for television licenses must show that they intend conducting legitimate research and are fully prepared to carry out their plans. The commission feels that the four channels set aside for this work are too precious to waste upon inexperienced experimenters, who, in all probability, could make no contributions to the art.

THE country's most novel hillbilly act is that heard through Station KMPC, Beverly Hills, Calif. The six musicians are introduced as the Beverly Hill Billies, and come to the studios nightly in outlandish costumes, some barefoot, and act in the manner expected of the Kentucky or Arkansas mountains type. They are not paid, according to the station, because they would not know what to do with the money if they had it. The audience has fallen for this line to the extent of contributing every sort of useful articles and food and the mountaineers devote part of their regular broadcast period to opening the loot. They sing and play songs of children dying in snowstorms and of drunken fathers. Crowds jam the studios and line up along the pavement each night to catch a glimpse of them.

Dare INTERPRETS the MODE

Flat furs make chic and new accessories, says Paris! (Dahray ideas.)

Paris, Aug. 29.

HOW I remember a little fur hat and muff that I had as a child. Looking back upon it now, it was, of course, a horror in shape and cut, but I didn't think so then. In fact, when I found the set some years later in the attic, didn't I haul it out and make myself a little toque and glove cuffs out of it. And that hat was a horror, too, because it was lots of bulkiness and very little chic, if I remember correctly. Yet it was original, not too extreme, and flattering.

Since the n no one has dared, until this season. And lo and behold, appears wee fur berets, exactly as their Basque sisters that were made so successfully in colored wool, and they are chic. Appear also very expensive purses and bags made of fur, with extravagant tops of marcasite or jade or crystal, appear smart glove cuffs that can be turned down over the hands for a real chilly spell, and have all of the comfort and none of the bulkiness of the fur lined glove.

And fur belts. Don't think for a moment they aren't smart, and flattering. They are all, of course, made of flat furs, as are most of these accessories. But just picture a white ermine belt with a diamond clasp on a black georgette afternoon frock, and tell me if you can live without the idea.

Honestly, they are cut as a bug's ear-wacker—and I for one am turning outside-in-inside-out a lot of old trunks and things and searching out bits and hunks of old furs to make into accessories for this winter.

• • • • •

Of course, there's just the little trick to it, so I thought I had better make you a leaflet telling you how to go about it. Meaning how to make a lot of old furs over into interesting new fur accessories, belts, berets, glove cuffs, bags, &c. For you or for the kiddies, you know, so better send that stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post right away before you forget it and then your envelope will be one of the first to be filled with a leaflet when they come in from the printers.

• • • • •

Saturday is our practical day, and this column is not for sassyety women today. It just occurs to me again to mention the advantage of white for evening wear, as a beeoooo-tiful white crepe moricaine gown has just been finished for me by a big couturiere—at a big price. It's long, oh, just showing my pearl embroidered heels, and it's intrically fashioned in the cutting so that it hugs and flatters the figure. And I asked "Madame, you know you can only wear this gown once and it has to be cleaned, as it sweeps the floor when one sits. And the price of cleaning this in the good ol' U. S. A. is eight or ten dollars. How about washing it?" And she said wisely—"why n t!" Now I ask you, could anything be more practical than a perfectly beautiful and regal evening gown that could be washed and ironed, worn as white for one season, dyed rose pink for another, red or midnight blue or bottle green for a third, and in the final analysis be dyed black—and like it?

My dear, how it pays to spend six or eight dollars a yard for a dress like this, even if it took six yards to make, and to have had it made by an expensive dressmaker. Think it over, and compare the original cost with what a cheaper gown that had to be cleaned upon each wearing would cost in the long run, let alone the dyeing which a cheaper material and a less well cut gown can stand only once.

• • • •

And just before I say good-by, let me remind you that there are skirts and sweater tops available yet in the leaflet, which finishes this week, if you mail your stamped, self-addressed envelope for your leaflet today.

Tomorrow, again, we have another Dare weekly fashion letter. Do look for it in The Sunday Post.

SIX SUFFER INJURIES WHEN CAR HITS POLE

Three Are Hurt Seriously; One Insists on Leaving Rescuer's Auto.

DRIVER LOSES CONTROL

Six persons were hurt, three seriously, when the automobile in which they were returning to Washington crashed into a telephone pole and hurled it across the rear seat between Bryantown and Waldorf, Md., yesterday afternoon.

Richard Keithly, 24 years old, of 1810 Seventeenth street southeast, driver of the machine, received a fracture of the skull, a fracture of the right arm and other hurts. With three companions he was removed to Casualty Hospital, where attendants reported his condition as grave.

Mrs. Margaret Conkle, 20 years old, of Colmar Manor, Md., received a fracture of the pelvis and possible internal injuries. Steven Johnson, 26 years old, of Clinton, Md., received possible internal injuries and a possible concussion of the brain. The condition of both was described as serious.

Mrs. Doris Koblern, 23 years old, of Colmar Manor, suffered lacerations of the right leg, nose and lips and contusions about the body. Her condition was not regarded as serious. Katherine Smith, 19 years old, of 1213 H street northeast, was admitted to Providence Hospital for minor hurts.

A sixth person, an unidentified man, suffered undetermined hurts. Frank Webster, of La Plata, Md., a route agent for an afternoon newspaper, came on the scene and found the pole lying across the rear seat of the smashed car. With the Smith women missing, Webster placed the five others in his delivery truck. En route to the hospital, the unidentified man clambered out of the car upon reaching the District line and insisted on leaving the group, Webster told hospital attendants.

The accident, according to a Ninth Precinct report, occurred when Keithly lost control of the machine a moment after passing another car on the highway.

Midshipmen Given Summer Furlough

1,000 Underclassmen End Annual Cruise in Foreign Waters.

Annapolis, Md., Aug. 29 (A.P.).—More than 1,000 midshipmen, all members of the first and third class at the United States Naval Academy, landed today from the battleships Florida, Utah and Arkansas, ending their annual training cruise in foreign waters.

As soon as they landed, the middies left or made plans to leave, for their homes for annual furlough. They will not report back to the academy until the third week in September.

The cruise, which started June 8, took the future admirals to Cherbourg, Kiel, Oslo, Edinburgh, and other ports, with inland trips to Paris and London and a visit by the Norwegian king at Oslo to enliven the voyage.

TAX EQUALIZATION BOARD APPOINTED

M. T. Dwyer, C. A. Davis and C. W. King to Serve on Alexandria Group.

BOAT REGATTA MONDAY

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The board of tax equalization, to review the new real estate assessment of Alexandria, has been appointed by Judge William P. Woolls of the corporation court, and is composed of Michael T. Dwyer, chairman; Charles A. Davis and Charles W. King, the first two members having served on the board two years ago. The board will name a clerk, who is expected to be Elliott F. Hoffman, clerk of the corporation court, who served in this capacity with the previous board.

The new assessment is expected to be completed by September 15, or shortly thereafter, and the board will then convene and arrange dates for hearing complaints on the assessments, the meetings being held in the city hall. Tentative plans provide for meetings to be held several evenings each week until all complaints are disposed of.

The new tax assessment is understood to be based upon the actual market value of the property, rather than approximately one-third the value as heretofore. The city council will be called upon by the assessors to arrange the tax rate so that it will not be excessive. The present rate is $2.65 on each $100 of valuation, and it is expected the new rate will be $1 on each $100 valuation, which will yield an increased revenue to the city. The new tax rate will be one of the first matters to be considered by the city council when it reconvenes Monday and the new members are sworn in.

Another "tip" as to whereabouts of William Kidd, alias "Kid Lilly," alias John Gaines, Negro, who on the night of June 20 1929 is alleged to have fired the shot that killed Police Sergt. Charles R. McClary, was received early yesterday morning by Police Capt. W. W. Campbell by long distance telephone from Grand Rapids, Mich. Like several that have gone before, however, the information proved barren of results.

Capt. Campbell was awakened by the telephone ringing shortly after midnight, and was informed by the operator that a man named Aaron G. Murray, of Grand Rapids, wished to talk to him about the McClary murder case, and wanted the charges on the call reversed. Murray then informed the captain that he had "Kid Lilly" under observation, and followed this with a telegram asking that Capt. Campbell advance expenses, stating he believed he could capture the man within 24 hours. Capt. Campbell wired the chief of police of Grand Rapids, who reported that Murray is a narcotic "stool" and had informed the police that he had met the Negro in the railroad yards, boarding a southbound train, adding that the information was considered questionable.

Capt. Campbell, acting on the possibility that Lilly may be in the vicinity of Grand Rapids, has mailed a number of descriptive circulars to cities and towns in Michigan. The circulars state that a reward of $1,000 has been offered for the capture of Lilly. Lilly was indicted for the shooting, and in addition to this he is wanted by a Virginia sheriff from whom he had escaped, and also by the authorities of North Carolina, who charge him with the murder of a policeman there.

John W. Brookfield, publicity chairman of the Old Dominion Boat Club, which is sponsoring the Middle States regatta, to be held here Labor Day, has stated that the Alexandria Airport has been given permission by the Department of Commerce to drop a wreath of flowers on the Potomac River shortly before the start of the races Monday, formally dedicating the George Washington Memorial Course. The permit for this feature was received by Pilot E. W. Robertson, of the local airport.

According to Police Capt. W. W. Campbell, a majority of the minor automobile accidents in Alexandria are caused by the failure of drivers to give hand signals when either stopping or pulling into or away from curbs. There were 74 such accidents reported in July and the number for August will probably equal or exceed that number, according to Capt. Campbell.

The Security Land Co., Inc., has sold to John E. and Gertrude Zeafoss, lot 11, block 3, section 1, in Jefferson Park, a deed conveyance having just been recorded with the clerk of the Corporation Court.

Funeral services for Mrs. Carrie D. Grillbortzer, wife of David G. Grillbortzer, who died Thursday night at her home, 814 Franklin street, after a short illness, will be conducted from the residence at 11 o'clock Monday morning, and interment will be in Ivy Hill Cemetery.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Grillbortzer is survived by a son, Frederick G. Grillbortzer, also four brothers and five sisters. She was a member of Martha Washington Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, and of Liberty Rebekah Lodge, No. 16, Odd Fellows.

FAIRFAX DROUGHT BOARD WILL MEET

County Chairman Problem and Jobless Survey to Be Discusesd.

WATER SITUATION ACUTE

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 2324-W-2.

The Fairfax County drought relief committee, which is composed of representatives of the County Chamber of Commerce, the farmers' advisory council and the Fairfax County Pomona Grange, will hold its meeting tonight in the county agent's rooms in the old clerk's office building in Fairfax. It will discuss the question of recommending a county chairman to be appointed by former Gov. Harry F. Byrd's drought relief commission for this district. It will also discuss the survey of the unemployment in the county.

The unemployment survey will be made by the county relief committee. Each committeeman will list all unemployed persons in his neighborhood, classifying them according to the type of work they are able and best fitted to do and as to the number of dependents they have. This survey is to continue through the fall and winter. The farmers are now trying to salvage as much of their crops as possible before it is too late. All the information collected will be turned over to the county chairman as soon as he is appointed by Chairman Byrd.

County Agent H. B. Derr states that he has found several persons who are satisfied with being unemployed and to let their neighbors feed and clothe their families. "This type of man does not care to have any kind of work and if we try to aid them we would be doing the honest farmer an injustice," he declared.

Agent Derr said that he understands the Government, through its committee of bankers, is planning to lend money to worthy farmers for seed and fertilizer for use this fall. Preference will be given to those who can not get credit from the regular banking sources.

The water situation in the county is becoming more critical each day. The regular wells in towns and on the farms are exceedingly low. Many persons are getting their drinking water supply from sources they believe are more sanitary. A number of persons living close to Washington and working there are taking their drinking water from their offices to their homes. Several farmers hauling milk into Washington by truck are filling the empty cans there and carrying the water home to augment their supply for their stock. If the drought continues much longer, it is stated, the wholesale movement of water by rail and large tank trucks will have to be resorted to. It is well recognized that even after the fall rains set in it will be several months before the underground streams which feed the wells will be large enough to supply the demand on them. So far, most farmers and dairymen have been able to locate an auxiliary water supply in their own neighborhood, after the streams upon which they depended had dried up.

Agent Derr stated that so far he has filled out 85 certificates for feed dealers and farmers in Arlington and Fairfax Counties and the City of Alexandria who have applied for reduced freight rates on hay, grain, cattle and other farm feeds. These orders have ranged from one to twenty carloads in each lot. Each application must be investigated and vouched for by the agent, who requires the dealers to sign a statement guaranteeing that the reduction in rates will be passed direct to the consumer.

Miss Alice Blackwell has been appointed by the Fairfax County School Board as teacher for the Vale School for this year. She will succeed Miss Mary Palmer, who was forced to resign on account of ill health.

Russell Ford, a youth of Fairfax, was slightly injured when he jumped from a wagon and ran in front of a truck driven by L. N. Byrne, of Alcola, Va. The accident occurred near the Fairfax courthouse. Byrne picked the child up and carried him to the Fairfax Pharmacy, where he was treated by Dr. J. Ramsey Taylor. Byrne was absolved from all blame.

C. L. Shring, of Groveton, was arrested by County Policeman A. W. Mills for being drunk. He was fined $10 and costs by Justice of the Peace Thomas P. Chapman at Fairfax on the charge.

William Jefferson, of Washington, was fined $15 and costs for reckless driving through the town of Falls Church. The arrest was made by Town Sergt. Walter Mitchell. A man giving his name as Dr. L. H. Eglaff, of Clarendon, was arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriffs Paul Herman and W. A. Wheeler on the Lee highway between Falls Church and Merrifield. He was taken before Justice of the Peace J. T. Molling, at Falls Church, on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. Justice Molling held him for the action of the grand jury at the September term of the circuit court.

I. E. O'Roark was fined $10 and costs yesterday for using profane language to a woman as he passed her home on the Annandale road, near Falls Church. He noted an appeal from the decision of Justice Molling to the circuit court.

Charles Rose, of Columbia, S. C., was fined $10 and costs by Justice of the Peace Harry Shephard, at Accotink, on a charge of reckless driving on the Washington-Richmond highway near the town. The arrest was made by County Policeman A. W. Mills.

Daily O'Currences

By JOHN DALY

LADEN with mail, Luella rushed into the breakfast nook.

"Look at all the answers to my invitation," she gurgled.

"Answers to an invitation? What invitation?"

"The invitation to the picnic——"

"Oh," said I, who had almost forgotten: "The picnic."

Hastily she tore open the envelopes.

"They've all accepted," she exclaimed, joyously. "Won't we have a good time?"

• • • •

A GOOD time on a picnic. Imagine that!

"Where is this convention going to be held?" I asked, for information. She had not divulged the meeting place; or, rather, the camping grounds.

"I thought I'd leave that up to you," flashed Luella.

"Leave it up to me? Whattuh I know about picnicking?"

"You know as much as I do," went on Luella, tabulating her replies.

"If you ask me, young lady, I think this is gon-a be a fine frost. Where ever we're going, how do we get there?"

"Whatd'ye mean, how do we get there?"

"By bus or boat?"

"Oh," she exclaimed, "I hadn't thought of that."

• • • •

OF course, she wouldn't think of a detail like that.

"Certainly you're not going to walk your guests to the picnic grounds——"

"Certainly not. They'll ride——"

"But how will they ride?"

"In autos, of course——"

"And where are we gonna get the autos?"

Luella stomped her foot. "Don't you think the people I've invited have autos?"

"They may have gliders, for all I know. Who did you invite?"

"Whom did I invite, you mean."

"Well, whom, then! Whom are they?"

"You're impossible. I've invited some of your friends and some of mine."

• • • •

RIGHT there I saw the end of the picnic. My friends and Luella's friends on a picnic. Think of that. It'll turn out to be a riot.

"All right," I agreed, "go ahead and tell 'em to bring their cars. Tell 'em to come here to the old manse and we'll all start from scratch."

We don't know where we're going, but we're on our way.

Patterns of Life Seen as Shifting

Changing Sociological Values Cited by University of Virginia Speaker.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Aug. 29.—Addressing the graduating class at the close of the second term of the summer quarter of the University of Virginia tonight, Dr. James P. Lichtenberger, professor of sociology in the University of Pennsylvania, declared that in little more than a century Western civilization has undergone, and is now undergoing with accelerated velocity, the profoundest change in the domain of human relations ever experienced by mankind.

Even the rural pattern of life is passing, said Dr. Lichtenberger. The farmer no longer produces the articles of his own consumption. His prosperity is conditioned far more by the prices he receives for his produce and the cost of the commodities he consumes—in other words, upon social conditions—than upon his own energy and skill.

"It is difficult for us to readjust our thinking to this new system of horizontal relations which modern industrialism has created—this new collectivism which is not a theory but a fact of experience, whether we like it or not. Many of our difficulties at the present moment are due to the survival or hangover of ideas once consistent with a scheme of vertical relations of direct and individual production but out of joint in our present situation," the speaker said.

Accidents Fewer In Virginia Plants

23 Lost-Time Injuries in First Six Months Are Reported.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 29 (A.P.).—Statistical averages compiled by Frank P. Evans, statistician for the Industrial Commission of Virginia, shows a decrease in the number of industrial accidents in the State in relation to hours worked during the first six months of 1930.

From January 1 to June 30 there were 23 lost-time injuries, that is, injuries in which an employe lost one day or more from work, to each 1,000,000 hours of work done, while during the first half of 1929 there were 24½ such injuries for each 1,000,000 hours of work.

Sixteen workmen were killed by industrial accidents in 1,510 manufacturing plants in Virginia during the first six months of the year. The textile manufacturing group, employing approximately 27,000, averaged ten lost-time injuries to every 1,000,000 hours of work. Sawmills experienced the highest ratio of injuries with 78 to every 1,000,000 hours worked, and also had the greatest number of fatal accidents, seven during the first six months of this year.

ARLINGTON TO HEAR NO-PERMIT CHARGE

Citizen of County Reported to Have Built Without Proper Permission.

THEFT IS LAID TO PAIR

ARLINGTON COUNTY.
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 500. Clarendon, Va.

A. H. Cannon, of Arlington, has been requested to appear before the Arlington Board of Supervisors at their meeting today to discuss the erection of an addition to his home without first obtaining, it is said, a building permit. Robert H. Forman, the administrator of Arlington County's zoning board, says that there is too little attention being paid to the section which requires the obtaining of permits for building. The appearance of Cannon before the board today is an attempt to try to put a stop to building without the required permits and to test the effectiveness of the zoning ordinance which requires permits for every kind of construction.

Forman has expressed doubts as to whether or not a person can be prosecuted for violation of that section of the zoning ordinance. He has requested Commonwealth Attorney William C. Gloth to study the section and if it is found to have no effect, the supervisors will be asked to pass a special ordinance making the violation of this section a misdemeanor.

It is alleged that Cannon failed to obtain the permit to make the addition while he claims that he went to the courthouse to obtain the permit where he left $1 with an employe there and was informed that it would be all right to go ahead with the erection of his building and that the zoning administrator and county engineer would sign the permit later as neither were in their offices at that time. He, however, failed to return for the permit. It is claimed that by not doing so he placed himself in the same position as if he had never made an application.

Administrator Forman points out that before the adoption of the zoning ordinance, building permits were only required so as to furnish the county commissioner of revenue with the information necessary to assess the buildings for taxation. Consequently it became the practice of many builders to go ahead with the work and then obtain the permit at their convenience. However, the zoning ordinance changed matters considerably as there are certain requirements as to set back, location and other questions that must be checked by the county authorities before the construction is started and the permit obtained the owner might find that his building does not comply with the zoning laws, and that he is liable to find himself involved in a legal action.
